

Bonn Censured for Peking Aid, Eased by President's Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—It was back-the-troops day in the Senate and members responded by voting to censure an ally, West Germany, in the name of supporting U.S. fighting men in Viet Nam.

By a 56-33 vote, the Senate wrote into the foreign aid bill Tuesday a statement that Bonn's guarantee of financing for a privately contracted steel rolling mill in Red China is a grave blow to "the safety of American and allied troops" in the Southeast Asian conflict.

This represented an irritated response to lack of allied help in the war. But the overriding objective of those who supported the proposal was to get on the record with their backing for the men in uniform.

This was demonstrated when 14 Democrats and 19 Republicans whose seats are at stake in this year's election voted for what Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., called an insulting statement of censure.

Only three Democrats and two Republicans whose jobs are up for grabs in November backed the administration's efforts to avoid the congressional slap at Bonn.

Sen. Harry F. Byrd Jr., D-Va., started the ruckus by proposing a flat condemnation of West Germany. Even after his amendment was adopted Byrd voted "no" when the Senate passed the aid bill, 66 to 27.

Administration leaders succeeded in watering down the wording of his amendment to make it apply generally to any ally who furnished help to Red China. But they lost two roll-call attempts to sidetrack the proposal.

Kuchel, the assistant Republican leader, took the lead in trying to turn aside a declaration he said tried to dictate to a valued ally how it should conduct its foreign trade.

"We've got to take friends as we find them," Kuchel said. "We can't pick out one of our friends and tweak its nose on how it will conduct its trade."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, chimed in that the censure move was "very risky business" we have very few friends left."

Anyhow, he said, it wouldn't do any good. He added that the steel mill won't be built for three years and chided those he said seemed to think the Viet Nam War is going on forever. He said Australia, with fighting men in Viet Nam, still trades with Red China.

Sen. Roman J. Hruska, R-Nebr., challenged Fulbright's contention that a rolling mill was not an arms plant. "How far is steel produced in Communist China from arms and ammunition?" he demanded.

West Germany has contended the mill will not produce steel but simply process steel already manufactured and thus will not enlarge Red China's steel-making potential and increase its ability to wage war.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., said that if the fighting men in Viet Nam had a chance they would vote 99 per cent for the amendment.

When the uproar subsided, 35 Democrats and 21 Republicans voted for the censure, while 25 Democrats and eight Republicans opposed it.

Frisbie Gets 10-20 Term, To Elmira

Raymond Joseph Frisbie, who has turned 17 years of age since his confinement in jail, was today sentenced to a term of from 10 to 20 years in prison for the death of George Joseph Brennan, 26, of Route 5, Saugerties, last Dec. 1, at Veteran.

Frisbie, indicted for first degree murder, had entered a plea of guilty to first degree manslaughter. He was represented by S. James Matthews.

When Assistant District Attorney Francis Vogt called the case for disposition before County Judge Raymond J. Mino, Frisbie stepped forward with his counsel of hear the sentence.

Appearing calm, the youth clothed in the blue jail uniform stepped forward and answered the usual questions asked by the clerk of the court. At the imposition of sentence he gave no indication of nervousness.

Had Expressed Sorrow

Prior to the imposition of sentence his attorney told the court that Frisbie had expressed his sorrow for his act.

Frisbie, who resided at Veteran, Town of Saugerties, along with Richard Tyte, 15, of R.D. 1, Kingston, were accused of the death of Brennan and the shooting of a second man, Robert James Vertitis, 26, of Box 33, Saugerties, after they had been surprised in a vacant house at Veteran, last Oct. 1. "The charge against Tyte was dismissed due to his age and his case was referred to the Family Court for disposition."

Notes 'Punishment'

Matthews said the youth, one of twins, had been close to his father and when his father died the shock "left a mark on the boy." He referred to the publicity which the case had at.

C-H Joining Six Other Firms for State Power Pool

Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation has joined six other New York State utilities to form a New York State Power Pool, according to an announcement today by Lelan F. Sillin Jr., president and chief executive officer of Central Hudson.

The power pool agreement, submitted to the Federal Power Commission today, will become effective upon approval of the Commission. The seven investor-owned utilities serve 98 per cent of the electric consumers in the state.

As a major objective of the agreement, the companies will coordinate further the development and operation of their electric production and transmission facilities in order to achieve optimum reliability of service and efficiency for the benefit of their customers.

The new agreement formalizes and extends state-wide coordination of planning and operation which has been carried on by the utilities for years. It will replace two smaller power pools and individual interchange contracts.

Others Involved

In addition to Central Hudson, the Power Pool will include: Consolidated Edison, Long Island Lighting Company, New York State Electric and Gas Corp., Niagara Mohawk Power Corp., Orange and Rockland Utilities, Inc., and Rochester Gas and Electric Corp.

The Power Pool will provide for an arrangement whereby the companies mutually recommend the best location, size, timing, and required transmission for

SBA Chairman Gives Views

Edwards Disagrees With Bridge Critic

The chairman of the State Bridge authority in a statement today took issue with testimony given last week by former SBA Chairman John S. Stillman in a letter to two Congressional subcommittees.

In his letter released on Saturday, Stillman told the Congress-sional sub-committee that the two-lane toll bridge between Newburgh and Beacon was "a colossal mistake."

Makes Comment

Dr. John L. Edwards of Hudson, current SBA chairman, commented as follows: Dr. Edwards said that Stillman has made another political speech.

"The Newburgh-Beacon Bridge is serving the needs of the people of the Newburgh-Beacon area," Chairman Edwards said that Stillman was chairman of the Bridge Authority under a Democratic majority for 1957, 1958 and 1959 and that Mr. Stillman should have seen that the bridge was built during those three years.

"There has been some talk about federal aid being used to construct the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and to eventually have all of the bridges on the Hudson River toll free."

Cites Federal Aid

"Why didn't Mr. Stillman arrange for the federal aid and why didn't he construct the bridge. He had three years in which to do this."

Dr. Edwards further said that when he became chairman under the Rockefeller administration in the early part of 1960 he lost no time in solving the problem and the bridge was started immediately. The bridge was open to traffic in November, 1963.

"If the Democratic Party had remained in power, the chances are that there wouldn't be a Newburgh-Beacon Bridge yet and the people of the Newburgh-Beacon area would still be forced to use the inadequate ferry service," he said.

Both the Mid-Hudson Bridge and the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge are the same size being 30 feet wide from curb to curb and can accommodate three lanes of traffic.

Compares Traffic

Dr. Edwards compared the traffic over the Mid-Hudson Bridge with the traffic over the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge. During the first six months of this year, 2,341,557 vehicles crossed the Mid-Hudson Bridge while 1,454,821 vehicles used the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge. The figures show that the Mid-Hudson

Invade or Face 5-10 Year War, Ky's Choice to U. S.

North Pounded, Two Planes Lost

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — U. S. warplanes hammered at North Viet Nam again today while ground fighting remained at low ebb in the South except for sporadic guerrilla mortar attacks.

The raids on the Communist North cost two more American planes, raising reported U. S. aircraft losses there to 310. All three airmen were daringly rescued by U. S. helicopters after they bailed out over North Viet Nam's panhandle region.

Aid Official Killed

U. S. officials announced that an official of the U. S. Agency for International Development, Norman L. Clowers, 50, of Tacoma, Wash., was killed in a Viet Cong ambush near Nha Trang. They said Clowers, a public safety adviser for five provinces in the central lowlands, was shot three times in the back of the head.

Clowers was the eighth AID official killed by the Communists. Seven of these were Americans, the other a Filipino.

Officials said Clowers was ambushed Monday after delivering cement and roofing materials to a village about 20 miles north of Nha Trang.

U. S. planes flew 68 missions against North Viet Nam Tuesday, striking three oil depots, barges, bridges, trucks and rail lines. Pilots sighted two surface-to-air missiles. A flight of Air Force Thunderchiefs knocked out a missile site two miles southeast of Vinh, a spokesman said.

Shot Down on Last Flight

One of the planes lost today was an Air Force F105 Thunderchief fighter-bomber piloted by Capt. James R. Mitchell, 37, of Ogden, Utah, a former Olympic skier making his 100th and last flight of the war.

Mitchell, a much decorated flier, was picked up unhurt 14 miles north of the 17th Parallel demilitarized zone.

Communist ground fire also brought down an Air Force RF4C Phantom jet about 33 miles southeast of Dong Hoi, on the North Vietnamese coast. Capt. Marvin Mayfield, 36, of Abilene, Tex., and 1st Lt. Robert Clark, 24, of Alexandria, Va., parachuted safely and were picked up separately by a U. S. Marine and a Navy helicopter.

Only Minor Contact

The heavy aerial activity near the border has been aimed at stopping infiltration of men and supplies to the North Vietnamese 324B Division which U. S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops have been pursuing just below the frontier buffer zone.

For the third straight day, however, the Marines reported only minor contact with the Communists as they continued Operation Hastings in the jungle-covered hills more than 400 miles north of Saigon. Since the allied task force launched the sweep on July 15 against the first full North Vietnamese division reported in the South, the U. S. command says 752 enemy bodies have been counted.

B52s Are Active

At dawn today, B52 bombers from Guam struck at a suspected Viet Cong troop concentration 55 miles southwest of Saigon. American pilots flew 464 sorties in South Viet Nam Tuesday, reporting 58 Viet Cong possibly killed and 146 enemy structures and 23 sampans either destroyed or damaged. South Vietnamese pilots flew 277 sorties.

Near Saigon, Viet Cong guerrillas unlimbered two mortar attacks against the base camp of the U. S. 25th Division at Cu Chi 18 miles northwest of Saigon. The tent city sustained minor damage and U. S. casualties were light, the U. S. military command said.

Funeral Scheduled Friday For Former Mayor of City

A former mayor of the City of Kingston, Edgar J. Dempsey of 625 Delaware Avenue died at Kingston Hospital Tuesday after a long illness.

Funeral services will be held at the Jensen and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs Street, Friday 10 a. m. The Rev. H. Coleman Lamb, acting minister of the Roundout Presbyterian Church will officiate. Burial will be in Wiltwyck Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home today 7 to 9 p. m. and Thursday 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p. m.

A native and lifelong resident of Kingston, Mr. Dempsey was alderman-at-large (R) at the time of the death of Mayor Morris Block (D) in November, 1926. Dempsey remained in office as mayor from Nov. 8, 1926 to 1931, having been elected for two terms at the expiration of the first incomplete term.

He was succeeded by Eugene B. Carey (D) in 1932.

Served in Depression

Mr. Dempsey was Kingston's mayor during the early years of the great depression, when unemployment was as much a problem here as elsewhere in the nation. Outside relief during Dempsey's tenure came first from the State and then the Federal government under the Works Progress Administration (WPA) which continued throughout the 1930's.

Mr. Dempsey was a son of the late William and Louise Jones Dempsey. He was a member of Kingston Lodge No. 550, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks; Roundout Lodge No. 343, Free and Associated Masons; Rapid Hose Company No. 1 and the Roundout Presbyterian Church.

He is survived by his sister, Miss Gertrude (Daisy) Dempsey of Kingston.

City Tribute

Mayor Raymond J. Garraghan has announced that in former mayor Dempsey's commemorative flag will fly at half-mast in the City of Kingston for the next 10 days.

Grim Highway Figures Not Exclusive to U. S.

Most Countries Stress Education Of Driver as Well as Pedestrian

LONDON (AP) — A few countries are moving to legislate more safety into the motor car, but in most the accent is on educating the driver and pedestrian.

Grim statistics on highway fatalities are not exclusive to the United States. The automobile explosion in other nations has brought with it an accompanying rise in traffic accidents and growing concern with safety problems.

The U. S. Congress is considering a wide-ranging bill to establish mandatory safety features in new automobiles, and the government has already set standards, beginning with 1967 models, for cars it will buy.

In other nations, an Associated Press survey shows, the automobile boom is a comparatively recent development and the stress has been more on driver and pedestrian education than on legislation.

In Japan, where streets already were crowded with pedestrians and bicyclists, the number of passenger cars quintu-

Calls for 'Real Expert'

Garraghan Favors UR Re-Evaluation

Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan, who says he finds he has "nothing to say about urban renewal," favors re-evaluation of the project planned for uptown and feels that "a real expert" should do the job.

He is the only mayor in the state, he says, and perhaps in the nation, who is not a member of an urban renewal agency.

His statement released today: "In July, 1965, at a meeting of the Uptown Economic Committee for Urban Renewal held in the Kirkland Hotel, I made a statement that I might as well run for mayor and get uptown urban renewal approved with no more fussing around, as we had met every month for a year discussing changes in the uptown plan."

Requirement Changes

"Mr. Eric Hemphill (UR Agency director) told us that it was better to get the uptown plan approved, and then ask for changes, since to ask for changes before the plan was approved in Washington, would delay the plan some two years."

"The uptown plan included areas where the people want 'no part' of urban renewal, but were included in the plan so 50 per cent of the area would be residential, then a requirement of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, but is no longer a requirement of HHFA, which is now Housing Urban Development."

"I refer especially to Hurley Avenue, Taylor Street, Route 28 near Plaza Road and Murphy Street. You must realize that" (Continued on Page 18, Col. 1)

Turco Succumbs, 30th for County; Injured Monday

Injured in a car-bus collision on Route 299 and New Paltz Road, Town of Lloyd, on Monday afternoon, John Turco, 20, of Rt. 1, Box 142, Highland, died at 4:30 p. m. Tuesday at Vassar Hospital of injuries suffered in the mishap.

Turco was Ulster County's 30th highway fatality of 1966 and the ninth person to die in the county of motor vehicle accident injuries in the last week. The 30th highway fatality of 1965 occurred on August 26, when a man and his wife were killed in a mishap on the State Thruway.

Six persons were killed and three others injured in a head-on collision last Thursday morning on Route 209 at Spring Glen. A 24-year-old Shokan man was fatally injured Saturday morning when his car crashed into a

Questions Patience Of Allies

Refers to Repeated Red Declarations

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Premier Nguyen Cao Ky gave the United States a choice today of aiding South Viet Nam another five or 10 years or invading North Viet Nam to finish the war.

Citing repeated Communist declarations to fight on as long as 20 years, Ky told a news conference on his regime's progress: "We have the patience but can we say the same thing of our allies? Are they ready to help us for five to 10 years? If not, we must destroy the Communists in their lair."

Replies to Repudiation

Reacting to the Johnson administration's repudiation of his suggestions for a military confrontation with Red China and a possible invasion of the Communist North, Ky, 35, declared: "There is no desire on our part to invade North Viet Nam. Our struggle is for our self-defense."

If South Viet Nam becomes strong and a democratic and economically sound example, he continued, "the people of North Viet Nam will turn their faces to the South and will overthrow the Communist regime. This second concept requires patience and time. This is the work of five, 10 or 15 years."

The premier and air force chief told the news conference that "the war will continue either as a battle of divisions and regiments or as guerrilla warfare or as sabotage and terrorism."

"If North Viet Nam will not end its aggression," he said, "then decisive measures must be taken. Their sanctuary must be destroyed."

Reaction Saddens Premier

Ky said that when North Vietnamese President Ho Chi Minh vows to fight on for two decades "people go and plead with him and ask him to stop, but when I say we should invade the North, people call me names and say I am bloodthirsty. This is an injustice done by free men to free men and it makes me sad."

Ky's statement was in reply to questions about his comment in an interview in U.S. News & World Report last week that "it is better to face (the Red Chinese) right now than in five or 10 years" and suggesting an allied invasion of North Viet Nam.

Upset Baseball's Antitrust Ruling, Order Dismissal

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Wisconsin Supreme Court today overturned baseball's conviction on state antitrust charges and ordered a Milwaukee court to dismiss the suit.

The 4-3 decision said the State of Wisconsin was "powerless" to enforce its own antitrust law against a sport spread from coast to coast.

A federal antitrust suit has been pending since last year in U.S. District Court in Milwaukee.

The decision erased a finding by Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller in Milwaukee that the National League and its members violated Wisconsin law in transferring the Braves franchise from Milwaukee to Atlanta at the end of last year.

Judge Roller ordered the club to return to Milwaukee unless the league provided an expansion plan that would grant the (Continued on Page 14, Col. 4)

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The sharp stock market break Monday gives you the first good chance to compare the old and new indexes popularly used to measure its performance. And they turn out to be pretty close to each other, if you look beyond their surface indications.

The break itself also isn't nearly as impressive in percentages as it may look on the charts, which are based on points of change in index figures.

Has All Stocks

The newcomer is the New York Stock Exchange's index of all listed common stocks. The oldest index is the Dow Jones 30 industrial stocks, then The Associated Press 30 industrial and in more recent years the Standard & Poor's 500 stocks.

If you look only at the points in these indexes, the stock price drop Monday ranged from 16.32 points to 0.87 points.

But if you look at the percentages, Monday's drop from Friday's close ranged from 1.8 per cent to 1.9 per cent. The indexes were that near to each other.

If you look at the record for the year, you find the Dow Jones industrials and the AP 30 industrials setting new lows for 1966. But the NYSE new index and the S & P index of 500 stocks each closed Monday still above their lows set May 17.

1,089 Declined

If you look at individual stocks, instead of at indexes, the price changes range all the way from 165 issues that advanced in Monday's trading to 1,089 that declined. And if you look at the 1966 records, you find five stocks setting new highs for the year and 185 setting new lows.

Here is how the various market measures performed:

The Dow Jones industrials closed at 852.83, down 16.32 points or 1.88 per cent. This index has been adjusted many times over the years to reflect stock splits and dividends, and also the many changes in the stocks used on it. So now the index is figured by adding the prices of one each of the 30 stocks and dividing by 2.245 — not by 30, as you would do if the index hadn't changed with the times. That is why the index is above 800 while the average price of the 30 is around $80.

Down 9.1 Points

The Associated Press 30 industrials closed Monday at 448.0, down 9.1 points, or 1.9 per cent, from Friday's close. This index, started in the mid-1930s also has been changed many times and is now divided by 4.01, instead of 30.

The Standard & Poor's 500 stocks closed at 83.83, down 1.58 in points and 1.8 in percentage. It is weighted to reflect shares outstanding in individual issues and also stock changes since it started. The May 17 low was 83.63.

The exchange's new index covers all of its more than 1,250 common issues, but is weighted to reflect the numbers of outstanding shares in the individual issues, and the base index figure was arbitrarily set at 50. Its Monday close was 45.42, down 0.87 from Friday, for an average loss of 90 cents per share. But the drop in percentages was 1.9. Figured retroactively, its May 17 low for the year was 45.06.

So, whether its 30 stocks or 1,250, Monday's decline is 1.9 per cent, or just a trifle under that. The number of shares changing hands was 7,060,000 — fairly moderate for 1966.

And the real point of interest probably is what happened to your own stocks: they may have gone up; they may have dropped less than the average; or they may have dropped quite a bit more than any of the four indexes would show. It's still a market of individual stocks.

Fact

The famous Madame Tussaud's Wax Museum in London actually began in Paris during the French Revolution in the late 18th century when Madame Tussaud began modeling the heads of many of its prominent leaders and victims. In 1802 she took her collection of figures to England for a tour of the country. In 1833 she established permanent headquarters on Baker Street in London.

BIG CAR SAFETY STEP

The Ford Motor Company's decision to manufacture cars with a collapsible front end to absorb the shock of impact is the first major fruit of the widespread public concern over automotive safety. Other forthcoming improvements in design and construction thus far announced are relatively minor changes in present models. The collapsible front end is, so far as U. S. cars are concerned, a radical innovation.

It is an innovation that would go a long way toward reducing, not the incidence of crashes, but the danger to occupants of vehicles involved in accidents. This should be the crux of the safety effort, pending such long-range projects as improvements in driver training and in roads and traffic control systems.

The idea of building an automobile's front end so that it will give way under impact, absorbing much of the energy of a crash before it is transferred to the occupants, is not new. Research has long since demonstrated the feasibility of this type of construction, and some foreign cars embody it. Ford deserves great credit for taking the lead in America.

Let us hope that other U. S. manufacturers will follow suit. Let us hope, moreover, that all makes of cars in the United States will start applying some of the other major findings of automotive crash research. That would be the way to achieve major advances in road safety without undue delay.

GAUGE OF PROGRESS

Looking over the "sylvan slums" of our summer camp sites, R. B. Cowles, a UCLA scientist, has come to the conclusion that what we need most of all right now is a new definition of the word progress.

"Today we measure economic progress by the increases in the gross national product, the sacred GNP," he explains. That's the same thing as measuring progress by the rate we are consuming our limited, irreplaceable natural resources. Gross national product is really gross national depletion."

Conservationists, on the other hand, view progress as bringing about and maintaining a balance between human needs and the regenerative powers of nature, he points out. He cites the American Indians, who could have lived on the continent forever without leaving a scar, without the extinction of a species of plant or animal and with no thought of conservation.

Progress in his mind is keyed to population control. He feels it is the only way to escape a future of continued world political and economic instability, crowding, war and starvation.

IT'S 197 MILLION NOW

There are about 197 million Americans now. When the Commerce Department's famous census clock was stopped the other day to make way for a fancy new electronic replacement, the figure stood at 196,738,453.

The clock's population count is based on the statistical finding that at current rates of increase there is a net gain of one every 12 seconds. That in turn is worked out on the basis of these averages: A death every 17.5 seconds, a birth every 7.5 seconds, an immigrant every 1.5 minutes and one emigrant every 23 minutes.

The statistical bases are changed from time to time, but the progression has been steadily upward ever since the clock began ticking. That was in 1926, at the sesquicentennial in Philadelphia, when the total was a mere 117 million. We have come a long ways, both in population and in the problems that go with it.

POLAR BEAR IN PERIL

A sorry new chapter is being written in the history of man's destruction of the so-called lesser animals with which he shares this planet. If the present course of events is not altered, the majestic polar bear may be consigned to extinction.

At an international conference on the subject last fall it was brought out that some 1,300 polar bears are killed annually. Delegates from the Soviet Union, which permits the taking of bears only for scientific purposes, said a survey had shown that

'These Days'

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

THE DANGER OF MISLEADING HO CHI MINH

The late Hugh Baillie, who once headed the United Press, was convinced that most of the terrible mistakes of the Twentieth Century could be traced to defective information. Thus it was out of ignorance that Hitler misjudged the capacity of Britain and the United States to fight back. Hitler was only one member of the legion of the misinformed. Neville Chamberlain, who had neglected to read "Mein Kampf," really believed that the peace of Europe could be saved by letting the Nazis take the Czech Sudetenland. And Stalin thought he had made a safe deal when he connived with Hitler to re-partition Poland.

What Mr. Baillie believed about the importance of accurate information is still true, but what can newspapers do about it when people insist on making news that in itself serves to mislead the enemy? Thus we have a Professor Richard R. Baxter of the Harvard Law School telling the New York Times that North Vietnam might try American military prisoners on "narrow" grounds, possibly for violation of the laws of North Vietnam. By putting it in such an "objective" way, Professor Baxter may be conveying to Ho Chi Minh, the dictator of North Vietnam, that there are people in the United States who can contemplate with equanimity the idea that soldiers can be common criminals when they take military orders from their superiors. True objectivity would have required Professor Baxter to explain that if American fliers are to be considered "war criminals," then any captured North Vietnamese accomplice of the Viet Cong is, by the same "narrow" token, a "war criminal," too. In our eyes the North Vietnamese began the war by violating a border.

The trouble with some Americans, if we may be pontifical about it, is that they don't realize that much of the world fails to understand the ABC's of free democratic newspaper practice. As the late Marguerite Higgins said, "news is a singular thing"—meaning that it is the unexpected, the actually new, that gets the front page spread. No American who is used to traditional man-bite-dog newspaper practice would interpret a banner headline about the murder of eight Chicago nurses by a psychopath to mean that America is populated by a race of demons. Nor does any American in his right mind believe that the younger generation is wholly composed of beatniks and New Leftists when he reads about a hirsute graduate student biting a cop in Berkeley, California. But a transfiguration occurs when news of the U.S. passes beyond the iron or bamboo curtain. Our enemies, who have never studied at an American school of journalism, do not know how to distinguish between the "singular thing" that is headline material and the "plural thing" that makes the news "singular" merely by deferring from it.

Ho Chi Minh's inability to understand western newspaper custom cannot be cured at this late date. But Americans could come to play into his hands. Thus Dr. Benjamin Spock, an estimable person in his own medical field, might consider the impact upon our enemies when he helps lead a "peace march" on Washington. The peace marchers may be conveying the entirely misleading idea to Ho Chi Minh that he need only wait until after the November elections to witness a chastened Lyndon Johnson giving the signal to U.S. forces to evacuate South Vietnam. Lyndon Johnson, of course, is made of tougher stuff than that.

Americans, too, might consider it their duty to inform themselves about what their enemies have been saying. It has become a commonplace to observe that Neville Chamberlain made a sad mistake when he neglected to bone up on Hitler's "Mein Kampf" before going to Munich. But when Dr. Spock or the Reverend William Sloane Coffin call for "negotiations" with Ho Chi Minh and Mao Tse-tung, have they considered the import of Mao's writings on "the Yenan way"? Mao has declared perpetual guerrilla war on the capitalist west, and Chou En-lai, repeating the words of his master, has said there can be no dealings with Peking prior to a total guerrilla victory in South Vietnam. How do you "negotiate" with people to whom the word "compromise" is meaningless? As one who is just as anxious for an enduring peace as Dr. Spock or the Rev. Coffin, I wish I knew.

Effects of Insect Bites Serious for the Allergic

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The motto of the stinging insects (bees, hornets and wasps) is: "Live and let live." They will agree not to bother you if you don't bother them. Fair enough, yet every year many persons are stung.

In addition to the local painful reaction there is the much more serious generalized reaction in persons who incur multiple stings, or who have become allergic through a previous encounter. This may be characterized by vomiting, chills, fever, shortness of breath, loss of consciousness and even death.

The best prevention is to avoid attracting the little pests. They will love your perfumes, hair spray and other cosmetics and, if you wear flowery prints they may mistake them for the real thing. Plain light colors do not attract them. When you are working outdoors or hiking you should wear a long-sleeved shirt and long pants. It is wise to carry an aerosol bomb of insecticide in your car with which to welcome any insects that may fly in.

The honeybee is the only insect that leaves its stinger and its venom sac in the wound. Squeezing the wound will only force the venom more quickly into your circulation but a swift scraping of the wound with a knife blade or your fingernail will remove the stinger before much of the venom is absorbed.

Persons known to be allergic to bee stings should carry a special first aid kit when there is danger of being stung. The first emergency measure when such a person is stung is an injection of adrenalin. Almost as good and much simpler is to place a tablet of isoproterenol (Isuprel) under the tongue. Don't suck or swallow it but let it be absorbed through the mucous membranes of the mouth. This drug will prevent swelling of the air passages and asphyxiation.

Prompt application of a thick paste of baking soda and water to the wound is also helpful in neutralizing bee or yellow jacket venom but, since wasp venom is alkaline, vinegar rather than soda should be applied to a wasp sting.

Desensitizing injections in the spring are recommended for all susceptible persons who are in danger of being stung. Such immunization is available for wasp as well as bee stings.

there were only about 8,000 of the animals left. Thus it appears that at the present kill rate the polar bear will be extinct in only a few years.

This would be a tragedy, not only because these magnificent creatures are a striking addition to the planet's wealth of animal life but also because of what it would say about man's failure to restrain his penchant for killing. An effective program of conservation should be started without delay.

Judge Not, That Ye Be Not Judged

Washington News

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent,

CHICAGO (NEA) — The bitter, destructive riots on Chicago's West Side produced the inevitable, sober-sided conferences between city officials and top Negro leaders.

After the meetings, there were vague promises of faster action on better jobs, education and housing for Negroes. Mayor Richard Daley pledged more recreation space for the afflicted area, and sprinkler systems for the fire hydrants, whose illegal tapping on a sweltering day had touched off the riots. A committee study of police and community relations was announced. Yet neither Daley nor the circuit-riding Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. nor Chicago civil rights leader Albert Raby dealt with some of the deepest aspects of this minor civil war. They are seldom mentioned anywhere.

As they pertain to the specifics of self-defeating Negro attitudes and behavior in distressed areas, comment will be reserved for later. Here, hard attention needs to be paid first to the effect of America's flooding affluence on the millions of disadvantaged Negroes.

Five years ago it suddenly became fashionable to talk of the "invisible poor." But from the viewpoint of the poor, the important thing is not that they are unseen but that the affluent world around them is so highly visible to them—so close within reach and yet so unattainable.

We live in a society which almost literally tries to cram affluence down the citizen's throat. Television, radio and other media shout to him how easy, how cheap it is to have and to use everything under the sun. Self-help markets and shops spill over with goods handy to the touch.

Affluence is portrayed widely as normal condition for the American family. Only a fool would imagine that millions of Americans, Negroes and others, would today rest content with having less than what they are daily told is normal.

This constantly enlarging stress on material well-being, advanced at obvious cost to other human values, lies at the root of Negro impatience—which is really the governing factor here in Chicago, in Watts, in Brooklyn's Bedford-Stuyvesant section and many another urban ghetto.

It is silly to argue that Negroes are impatient because they have waited 100 years for the fulfillment of their rights. Most of the militant protesters have been on his earth less than a quarter of that time. They know the struggles of the past only by hearsay.

What they do know "first-hand" is the richness of American life visible in gleaming automobiles passing down their streets, in the beckoning cornucopia of the markets, in handsome new houses and high-rise apartments.

The housing they see in the suburbs and in refurbished sectors of central cities only compounds their frustration. For Negroes have inherited the core of central cities which, in their original make-up, probably have always been too crowded to be truly livable places. And today those cores are badly deteriorated, even as Negroes move in.

Worse still, these central cities now stand out as never before in painful contrast to the swelling, prosperous suburbs—the image of the new and the desirable, where space and greenness are tangible things.

It is not simply that Negroes need "better housing," Chicago, ironically, is noted by building code specialists as having one of the best and toughest building inspection and code enforcement setups in the nation. It is vastly superior, for example, to New York City's.

What Negroes want is what the suburbs connote in every way. They represent not just the reality of better housing but the symbol of a whole new way of life, the equal of that suggested on their 21-inch screens as proper for everybody.

All the basic things the Negroes want take time. But, as Chicago's West Side shows, they are no longer willing to give time. No white or Negro leader seems close to reconciling their call for "instant affluence" with the harsh reality of slow change which so long has governed this society.

Some Peeping Tom has sent me a copy of the Green Beret Fitness Program. I'm not that bad. I have seen myself in the nude, and, after assorted blushes, would say that I resemble a pink and white Easter egg. If the egg was laid by a pigeon. My figure, if you will pardon the boast, is diamond-shaped.

It cost a lot to achieve it. The lean hard shape of my youth was strictly from hunger, and never won a medal. Now, I am five feet, seven and one-half inches tall, and this encompasses 168 pounds of flab. Green Beret, my eye. I'm going to organize my own group. The pink pom-poms.

The Green Beret booklet starts off with "On the starting command 'Go,' begin running as fast as possible. Run between the first two obstacles. Jump the six-foot water ditch, run between the next two obstacles and leap the hurdle. Vault the fence and climb the wall. Crawl through the pipe tunnel. Any questions?"

One, Which way to the nearest hospital?

The Green Berets have lots of goodies for the health nut. I quote: The Tarzan. The Weaver. The Belly Buster. The Hip-Hip. The Tough Nut. The Dirty Name. The Swinger. Unless you've got a pretty enormous back yard or an indulgent 'Y,' you can't set up an obstacle course to get in shape.

Thank God for a small backyard. I thought those things were dances. They are instruments of muscular torture devised by sadists at Fort Bragg who watch it all from a hammock. There is Open Hand Slap Boxing, the Rooster Fight, Back to Back Push, Wrist Bending and Bulling. Any of these could break every wishbone in my chicken body.

Posture, according to the Parallax booklet, is best judged in profile. Although none of it occurred to me, I note that the parts of the body which should be in line—roughly north to south—are the lobe of the ear, tip of the shoulder, middle of the hip, middle of the knee and front of the ankle bone.

To achieve this, I am admonished to "Stand tall, chin in, shoulders relaxed, chest raised, buttocks down, belt parallel with the floor, knees straight and weight balanced." The only man who can make me do this is an undertaker.

There are certain slight defects in posture, the Army says, and I have all of them: round shoulders, sway back, sagging abdomen, forward head, pelvic tilt. Add to these, a few of my own: a wry neck, bursitis, fused spine, and my feet hurt.

Still, I am the athlete of my set. My friends marvel when I walk to the mailbox in front of the house without aid or other visible means of support. When my females are around the house, no finger points more muscularly than mine at a piece of furniture to be moved. Few men can lift

Need Seen for Federal Help Prohibiting Demonstrations

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — This may become known as the era of illusion and fallacy—the period of the alibi — when the biggest crime wave in American history is blamed on sociological conditions, poverty and lack of education or employment opportunities. President Johnson in a speech at Indianapolis last Saturday said:

"For decades Americans have enjoyed the highest standard of living on earth. By 1960 our economy had slowed down and become sluggish. But for the last 65 months, it has moved further and faster than the most optimistic 'Pollyanna' ever predicted."

The president quoted with approval an unnamed observer who had written that the United States in 50 years not only has beat off depressions but has created the "most wealthy, healthy and educated nation the world has even seen at any time or in any place."

The paradox goes even further when the words of experienced police officers are read. They tell how passions have been aroused, and they voice a belief that violence in the streets is planned and organized.

Although there are white as well as Negro hoodlums and crime is not confined to any race or ethnic group, the tendency of administration spokesmen is to argue that conditions in the slums and plight of the poverty-stricken and jobless Negroes are the principal reasons for the chain of riots that have been sweeping the big cities of the country.

But the obvious cause of it all is ignored. Every police officer knows that, once street "demonstrations" are initiated and passions are aroused, this furnishes a chance for the criminally minded to begin using firearms and throwing fire bombs, while other members of the mob take advantage of the disorder to steal from stores and carry on the vandalism.

Police superintendents in various cities who have been interviewed say that a "spirit of restlessness" and a "contempt for law are growing and that some of this is due to leniencies in the courts. Police officials complain they are hampered, for instance, by recent rulings of the Supreme Court of the United States. They are discouraged also by charges of "police brutality," which tend to intimidate and restrain officers of the law.

Whites and negroes, moreover, with plenty of education—including even some clergymen—have been telling their less-fortunate brethren that they have a right to disobey laws which they consider unjust and that "violence" is a proper expression of frustration and resentment.

There have been hoodlums for many decades. But the police have been able to keep the crimes from affecting the community as a whole. What has happened, then, to cause this change? The sanction given to street "demonstrations" by influential persons in both political parties may well be an underlying cause of the riots. The administration here has been reluctant to denounce "demonstrations" except in the vaguest terms.

The only remedy is for the federal government to support local authorities in prohibiting all "demonstrations" in the streets and on the highways that are likely to provoke disorder. It could be required that gatherings on highly controversial issues be held inside auditoriums or stadiums, where there is ample opportunity to use radio, television and other forms of communication, and where the privileges of free speech and free assembly may be fully exercised.

Naturally, subversive groups take advantage of unrest of any kind. Indeed, some have staffs of experts who train "demonstrators" in the techniques of rioting. While there has been no disclosure of the identities of those persons who have been intensifying the "demonstrations," the chances are that they begin their plotting after civil-rights leaders announce the time and place. This creates an opportunity for the malcontents to get into the scramble.

There are, moreover, many whites and negroes who have come to believe that by "demonstrations" and disorders they somehow or another will get money handed to them on a platter. The mistaken theory that the government is about to give something free to everybody, with no work to be done to earn it, has permeated many communities. ## Adds $500 Million to Budget

LBJ Showed Marked Concern On Signing Federal Pay Hike

By BARRY SCHWEID
WASHINGTON (AP) — It was with evident concern that President Johnson signed the new federal pay raise bill last week, the fifth pay hike voted federal workers by Congress within four years.

For the most part, the $540-million annual pay increase, a 2.9 per cent boost, fell within the White House's suggested wage-price guidelines. But by beginning the pay boosts July 1, six months earlier than he had recommended, Johnson said Congress had added $500 million to his 1967 budget.

Begin at Once

"These outlays begin at once, and they begin at a most critical time when we are striving to restrain inflationary pressures," the President said.

But more to the point, he signed the bill into law, said it would help "attract and retain the talent and excellence needed to conduct the complex affairs of government," and continued the steady upward spiral of government pay.

Johnson is firmly committed to the principle laid down by Congress in the federal salary reform law of 1962 — that, as he said in his federal pay message to Congress last March, "government workers are entitled to a pay scale which compares favorably with pay in private industry."

Since 1961 federal pay has increased by about 19 per cent, about 15 per cent of this since Johnson took office. The pay raises of October 1962, January 1964, July 1964, October 1965 and the latest one boosted government pay by almost $2.8 billion annually.

The emphasis has been on the lower brackets, the clerical and administrative help who make up the bulk of the 1.8 million covered federal workers, with the result that the pay in these brackets is now generally comparable to industry's.

But despite sizable jumps at the higher levels, industry evidently is ahead on the top rungs, by a considerable margin. For example, the average pay at grade 15, the top professional level though there are three super grades above, is $19,371 while industry pay for comparable jobs, according to government figures, is $22,708.

The government's efforts to try to keep pace over-all and edge toward comparable pay is illustrated by the average percentage increases the five pay hikes brought the 1.1 million government white collar workers — 5.5, 4.1, 4.2, 3.6 and 2.9.

Most recent government figures show, however, that from 1961 through early 1965, accountants in private industry gained a pay increase of 13 per cent, auditors 14.2 per cent, attorneys 16.2, personnel directors 15.8, chemists 15.8, engineers 13.7 and clerical workers 11.2.

Close to 3 PC

Preliminary data for the year through early 1966 indicate an additional over-all boost of close to 3 per cent.

Judging by these figures, Presidents Kennedy and Johnson and Congress took big strides toward keeping pace with the pay boosts in industry. But a lag remains toward the top, primarily because government pay historically was behind that of the private sector of the economy.

Johnson has not tipped his hand about the future. But it is a safe guess he will be influenced by the inflationary heating up of the economy, provided it is not dispelled by the time he makes his next request.

To Pay Higher Rate

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City reportedly will have to pay its highest interest rate in 34 years when it seeks to borrow $112,925,000 in the municipal bond market today.

The New York Times said it was reported that only a single bid for bonds to yield about 4.65 per cent interest would be made on the offering.

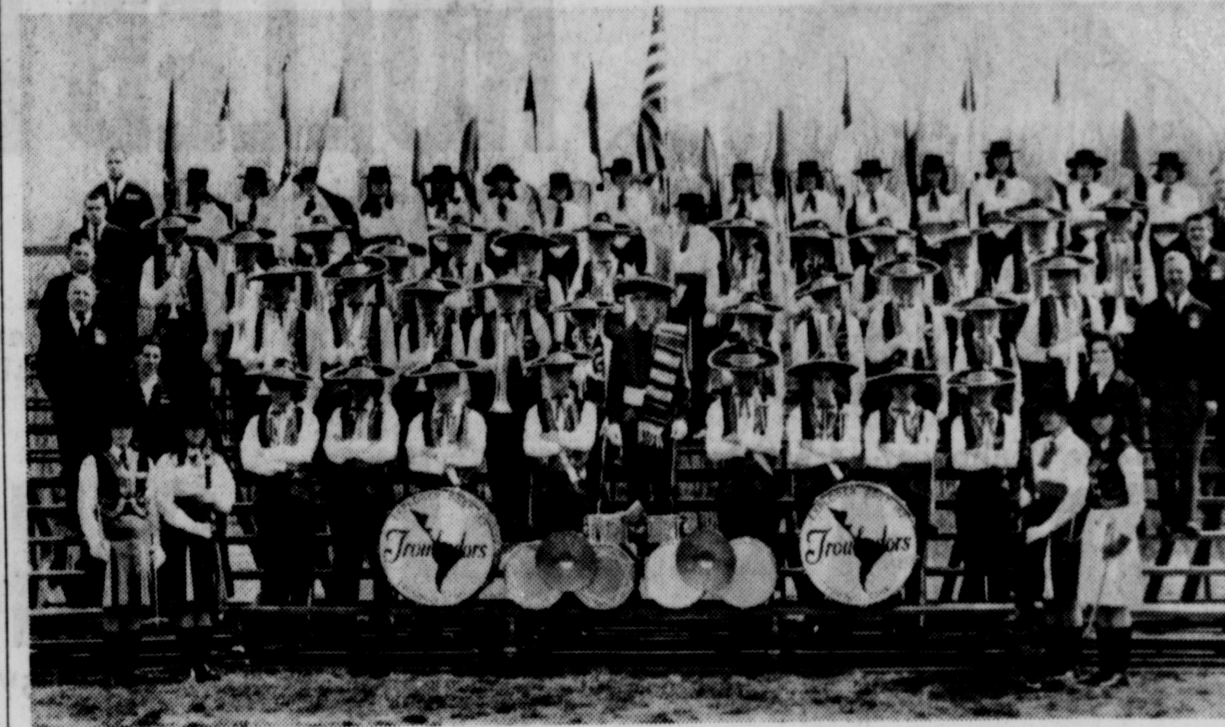

The newspaper said it was learned that the single bid would be submitted by a syndicate headed jointly by the Chase Manhattan Bank and the First National City Bank.

Interest of 4.65 per cent would be almost one-half of 1 percentage point more than the high of 4.24 per cent paid by the city last April. In April 1965, the city paid 3.1 per cent on money it borrowed.

TO PARTICIPATE IN POW WOW — The Troop 12 Indians are proud to announce that one of the corps to be featured in the second Annual Pow Wow of Junior Champions will be the St. Lucy's Cadets (above) of Newark, N. J. The Pow Wow, which last year drew thousands from as far as Chicago, is an international junior drum and bugle corps competition, which this year will be held at Dietz Stadium in Kingston starting at 8 p. m. on August 13. St. Lucy's Cadets are sponsored by the Newark VFW Post 461 and American Legion Post 300. The oldest Catholic drum corps in the nation, the Cadets began this year to create a distinctive method of marching and musical presentation. Their repertoire varies from such classical renditions as "Entrance of the Sardar", a medley pointing up our American heritage to rhythms in blues, jazz and ragtime. In conjunction with the Pow Wow, and being held at the same location starting promptly at 2 p. m., will be the Northeastern Circuit Contest. The BSA Indians are pleased to have signed a fellow Scout Corps to compete in this contest, the Troubadors Drum and Bugle Corps was organized in the fall of 1964 as an activity of Explorer Scout Post 152, sponsored by American Legion Post 141, Trumbull. They first appeared as a parade and an exhibition corps in 1965, beginning marching and maneuvering in 1966. The corps wears the colorful uniform of the Mexican Charro, or cowboy, the national dress costume of Mexico. To insure authenticity, the uniforms were obtained directly from Monterrey, Mexico. Their musical repertoire features well-known Latin American and Spanish tunes. Tickets are available at Nekos Pharmacy, Wall Street, Kingston.

For, as he warned government new pay bill higher salaries chasing power of your dollar is ment workers in signing the bring little benefit "if the pur-eroded by inflation."

B&amp;M Rail Talks Reach Impasse, May Go to Court

MONTEPELIER, Vt. (AP) — Gov. Philip H. Hoff says talks between Vermont officials and the Boston & Maine Railroad have reached an impasse and the future of rail passenger service in the state may be decided by a federal court.

The Interstate Commerce Commission on July 6 approved the B&M's application to drop four passenger trains between Springfield, Mass., and White River Junction, Vt. — part of through service from Washington-New York to Montreal.

Hoff quoted officials of the B&M Tuesday as saying that temporary continuation of service was contingent upon Vermont eventually withdrawing its objections to the elimination of service.

To do that, the governor said, would be to leave the state "completely at the mercy of the B&M."

Thus, the case will go back to a three-judge Federal Court which will decide by tomorrow whether it has jurisdiction to rule, and, if so, whether it should grant a permanent injunction to keep the trains running.

Earlier, Hoff announced that the railroad had agreed to continue the two remaining day trains in Vermont until Sept. 3 and the two night trains until April 1.

He said that would have given the state Legislature time to consider proposals for subsidies, tax relief or other forms of assistance to keep the trains running.

The Vermont Public Service Board obtained a temporary injunction to keep the Springfield-White River Junction trains rolling and sought a permanent restraining order on the basis of "irreparable harm."

IUE Head Denies Conspiracy on GE Negotiations

NEW YORK (AP) — Paul Jennings, president of the AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers, (IUE) has denied in Federal Court that the IUE decided in advance to settle with the General Electric Co. only when the demands of all eight unions seeking wage agreements with GE were met. Jennings, whose union represents 79,000 of GE's production workers, testified Tuesday before Judge Marvin E. Frankel in the second day of a hearing being held by the judge without a jury.

Continues Today

The hearing, which continues today, is on a National Labor Relations Board action seeking to compel GE to bargain with the IUE even when representatives of other unions are present.

Jennings testified that the IUE has developed "a kind of coordinated approach" to both GE and the Westinghouse Electric Corp.

Counsel for GE objected when Jennings spoke of "the ability of the company to whipsaw the union."

GE-IUE negotiations broke down May 4. On May 9, the IUE filed an unfair labor practice charge, contending that GE was interfering with the rights of the union's members by allegedly failing to bargain for a contract to replace the one that will expire Oct. 2.

Refused Recognition

The IUE said GE refused to recognize the union's bargaining committee earlier this year unless changes were made in its membership.

The judge heard further testimony Tuesday from John H. Callahan, chairman of the IUE's national General Electric conference board, who had been a witness the day before.

Callahan gave information Tuesday about the IUE's bargaining procedures. On Monday he had denied knowledge of any all-or-none agreement among the IUE and the seven other unions.

Questions, Answers on Federal Tax

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q—I support my mother and claim her as a dependent. She just turned 65. Does that give me another dependency exemption?

A—No. You are entitled to one exemption for your mother when she qualifies as your dependent. The fact that she is 65 does not give you an extra exemption. The extra exemption for being 65 applies only to the taxpayer and his spouse.

Note Taxable Items

Q—I've just retired. I will have income from Social Security, a company pension and an annuity from an endowment policy. What part of this will be taxable?

A—Social Security benefits are not taxable. Usually you must pay tax on the full amount you receive each year from your pension if you did not contribute to its cost. If you did contribute, only part of each payment is taxable. The annuity is taxable.

There are two methods of reporting pension and annuity income, depending on how long it takes to recover your cost. They are explained in IRS Document No. 5018, "Retirement Income and Credit," available from any District Director's office.

Q—I'm leaving the U. S. to take a job overseas next month. Do I have to do anything about this year's taxes before I leave?

A—No, a return for 1966 does not have to be filed until next year. Be sure to obtain a free copy of IRS Publication No. 54, "Tax Guide for U. S. Citizens Abroad." It has much useful tax information including what your liability is for income earned abroad. Write to any District Director's office for it.

Q—I just sold some of the excess furniture we had when we moved from a house to an apartment. Is the money I received from the sale taxable income?

A—There is no taxable income unless the sale resulted in a profit.

Military Pay Taxable

Q—I'm going into the military service. Will my pay be taxable?

A—Pay received for military service is taxable unless you are in Viet Nam or adjacent seas. If you are an enlisted man, you may exclude your full pay for any month during any part of which you served in Viet Nam. If you are a commissioned officer, you may exclude up to $200 a month. This exclusion also is extended to time spent in a hospital of injury because of injury or illness incurred during service in a combat zone.

Q—I have a loss in some stock I own. Is there such a thing as a short-term loss and a long-term loss?

A—Yes. If you hold stock six months or less and sell it at a loss, you will have a short-term capital loss. If the stock has been held over six months at the time of sale, any loss would be considered a long-term capital loss.

Short-term capital losses should be used to offset short-term capital gains while long-term capital losses should be used to offset long-term gains. If you have a short-term loss that exceeds your short-term gain, you may also use the short-term loss to offset long-term gains. The same applies for long-term losses.

Beer Can Rings Put to New Use

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y. (AP) — The ring-top can openers now being used on many soft-drink and beer containers are gaining a reputation for an illegal purpose in this area—they are being used as slugs for parking meters.

The rings, the same diameter as a nickel, can be twisted free and, despite the light weight, have been successfully substituted for nickels in parking meters.

Several areas in Saratoga County, — this community excepted — have reported the rings have been used in parking meters. A spokesman for the Genesee Breweries of Rochester said the company had received four or five reports of the illegal use of the rings in that area.

Genesee and the West End Brewery Co., Utica, employ the ring-top opener.

A spokesman for West End said the company had not heard of the illegal use of the rings, but added:

"We have received letters from people who say they (the rings) make great fishing lures."

Most localities have laws fixing penalties for using slugs in parking meters. In Saratoga Springs, a violator could be fined up to $25.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

Some years ago they said, where the truck drivers eat, there you will find good food. Today it is a teenage world, and eating places are catering to them, so it seems. They have cars and can drive several miles for their kind of food. The submarine sandwich, if made to their taste will bring dozens of them to the shop.

Now it's the fast hamburgs, on toasted rolls, with catsup, mustard, slices of pickle and on toasted hamburger buns for only 15 cents. French fries, the shoe-string type are about 12 cents a bag, all ready to go, and the teenagers line up for this nourishing food. The minute one modern place goes up there are others that follow suit near it. The trend is so fast, that one cannot keep up to it. The coffee is strong and good, and milk shakes thick and creamy also very reasonable, the price is right, the food is good and teenagers are behind the counters to wait on you.

A gain one begins to see how it is said, some 11 billion dollars is spent by teenagers, in this age of 1965 and 1966 per year, and about 80 per cent of this money is earned by them. If you want to know the place where one can get a real good malted with plenty of cream, thick, sweet and rich, and a hamburger, that fills the bun, ask a teenager, he'll quote you prices and places. Years ago, the hot roast beef sandwich, with potatoes and gravy was popular, and the western, with chopped meat and egg, these ran about 20 cents and coffee was five cents, with sit down service.

I have a little card giving the Kingston Fire Alarm Service, which was given out by R. W. Anderson and Son, Printer, of 15-17 West Strand, Rondout, New York, Telephone 1010-W. He had a picture of one of his printing machines on this little card.

Mr. Anderson is listed in the 1916 directory as being at West Strand and living on Ponckhockie Street. The Fire Alarm numbers were very simple, they ran from 14 for Lindsley Avenue and East Union Street to 233 for Hurley and Snyder Avenue. Five strokes meant, "Fire Out." In those days they had a clear fire bell, which was heard very distinctly. Today they have an air-horn, which seems to re-echo. The numbers were so simple, that many knew them by heart. Broadway and Strand was number 25. Benedictine Sanitarium was number 32. The high school building on Broadway was number 125. No doubt, Captain (retired from Kingston Fire Dept.) Hank Albrecht, and Chief (also retired of the Kingston Fire Dept.) Joseph Murphy, knew those numbers well. I remember, when they used to ring by bell, and one of the first cars down to any fire, in Rondout, Chief Joseph Murphy would be on his way, night or day. We would see him go down in his car down Broadway. Even in his late years, Chief Murphy would climb any height, one was a warehouse fire around O'Neil Street and there was Chief Joseph Murphy walking along the very peak, quietly giving orders to his men.

I see in the Kingston 1916 City Directory. The Stuyvesant was then known as Kingston's New Modern Hotel, completed in 1911, corner John and Fair Street. They had the American Plan Only, with rates, $2.50 to $3.50 per day. We had a Kingston Gas and Electric Co. at 611 Broadway. The Moran Business School were in the Burgevin Building, at Fair and Main. John J. Moran was the principal and Joseph J. Morgan was secretary. They taught such subjects as stenography, touch typewriting, business arithmetic, penmanship and commercial law.

Just a Bit Heated

SALAMANCA, N.Y. (AP) — Louis Foy admits he was a bit heated Tuesday after he found that he got himself into hot water.

Foy, who heads the city's summer swimming program, said he jumped into the pool at Salamanca Central High School where the water temperature had climbed to more than 100 degrees.

Foy found later the water heater had been left on about 36 hours. The water did not really scald him, he said, but "I couldn't talk for a few minutes."

Governor Asked To Close Three Ontario Beaches

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—A Monroe County conservation official says he has asked Gov. Rockefeller to close three Lake Ontario beaches after both county and state health leaders refused.

Called "Health Hazards" The beaches were called "health hazards" by Wayne Harris, chairman of the county's Conservation Council's water and air-pollution committee. In a telegram to Harris Tuesday, Dr. Hollis Ingraham, State Health Commissioner, said his decision not to close the beaches "at this point" was based on "medical judgement".

Dr. Wendell R. Ames, the county health director, also has refused to shut down the bathing areas because he feels the water there is not harmful to swimmers.

However, Harris said his request was based on a federal report that the areas were "health hazards".

The report was the result of testimony here last Friday during an investigation into water pollution conducted by a congressional subcommittee.

H.W. Poster, Great Lakes regional director for the federal water-pollution control agency, said "effluents dumped into the lake constituted a health hazard to the bathing beaches."

Will Study Samples

Ingraham told Harris that the state would study the daily water samples to determine the effect of increased chlorination of discharged material into the lake from the city's Durand

Eastman sewerage treatment plant.

The State Health Commissioner also said his department would remain in close contact with the county "with respect to future actions".

Harris said Ingraham's decision "is typical of what we have seen over the past five or six years — all talk and no action."

Harris said it indicates that Dwight F. Matzler, the new state deputy health commissioner for water pollution, "will not be allowed to do the job in the state that he has been hired to do."

The beaches are at Ontario, Durand - Eastman and Webster Parks.

More factory workers live in Brooklyn, N. Y., than in Detroit and Pittsburgh combined.

Library Sure Outdoor Artist Show Will Prove Big Success

The Saugerties Public Library is leaving no stone unturned to assure the success of its forthcoming outdoor Art Exhibit. The exhibit is the first sponsored by the Library's Public Relations Committee, which has been extremely active this year.

Residents will remember their highly successful Open House at the library last May, which combined book browsing with the cultural pleasure of attending a twice-repeated musicale, performed by two concert pianists. According to Mrs. Robert L. Carnright, of the committee, many local artists have been contacted, whether amateur or professional painters, and invited to exhibit one or more examples of work in the outdoor show, scheduled Saturday, August 13. Brochures and entry blanks have been mailed to artists, and the committee has urged their participation in the gala event and their support of local library activities.

Firemen Plan Picnic

The Asbury-Katsbaan and Saxton Volunteer Fire Companies are holding a jointly sponsored chicken barbecue with clams at the Asbury Picnic Ground (formerly Trinka's) on August 21 at 10 a. m. The main bake will be at 3 p. m. with clams, hot dogs, hamburgers, beer, and soda available all day while they last.

The public is invited to attend this annual fund-raising event. Children under seven will be admitted free. Tickets are now available from members of the Asbury-Katsbaan or Saxton Fire Company.

Wins Flower Award

A Saugerties resident, Mrs. William Waldele, was recently named second place winner in one of the 10 classes of the Artistic Division of the Woodstock Garden Club's Annual Flower Show.

Mrs. Waldele's award resulted from her entry in the invitational class, "Waves of Grain."

An out-of-town jury of professional artists will preview the exhibition and award first, second and third prizes. Approximately, the prizes will consist of specially-selected volumes of fine art books.

The art show will be held at the library, Washington Avenue, on August 13, from 10 a. m. until dusk. Rain date is listed for August 14, from 12 noon until dusk.

Any artist residing in the Town of Saugerties is eligible to participate and exhibit. A small entry fee will be charged for each painting and artists may enter as many paintings as they wish. Entry days, when paintings will be accepted at the library at the side entrance are:

Friday, Aug. 5, from 1 to 5 p. m. or 7 to 9 p. m.; Saturday, Aug. 6, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon or 1 to 5 p. m.; Monday, Aug. 8, from 1 to 5 p. m. or 7 to 9 p. m. Any artist who has not been contacted by the committee and who would like to participate should mail an entry blank on or before Aug. 8 to: Art Exhibit Committee, c/o Saugerties Public Library, Washington Avenue, Saugerties.

Paintings shown in the exhibit should be removed from the library following the close of the show on Saturday, Aug. 13, from 7 to 9 p. m.

Receives Promotion

Dennis A. Elmendorf, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus R. Elmendorf, 106 Farrelly Street, Kingston, received an early promotion to Army pay grade private E-2 on completion of basic combat training at Fort Dix, N. J., July 8.

He was awarded the promotion two months earlier than is customary because of his score in firing the M-14 rifle, high score on the physical combat proficiency test and his military bearing and leadership abilities.

The early promotion program is an Army policy providing incentive for outstanding trainees.

Elmendorf entered the Army last May. He is a graduate of Kingston High School.

Local Residents Entertain Youth On Rural Visits

Five families in the Saugerties area deserve credit for their willingness to help underprivileged children from New York City. The families involved are helping such children to learn about country living at its best.

Through arrangements made with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Waters, of Woodstock, co-chairmen of the Herald-Tribune Fresh Air Fund for the area covering Saugerties, Kingston and Woodstock, these local families have invited five children to spend two weeks in their homes. Their visit here began July 19 and will continue until August 2. Each host family includes children of its own and adults and youngsters alike are sparing no effort in showing metropolitan boys and girls an interesting and enjoyable time locally.

Already, the children visiting Saugerties have participated in a picnic with other Fresh Air Fund Children and their hosts at the Peg Leg Bates Club in Kerhonkson. Picnickers came from Saugerties, Ellenville, New Paltz, Kingston, Woodstock and other places to attend.

Saugerties residents now hosting fund youngsters are:

Mr. and Mrs. William Romei, 4 Edith Avenue; Mr. and Mrs. Scott Gilpin, Blue Mountain; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Kolb, 20 Robinson Street; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Grant, Blue Mountain; and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, 22 Edgewood Drive.

Mohawk Transit Is Given OK on Boost

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) —The Public Service Commission today gave Mohawk Valley Transit Inc. of Amsterdam permission to raise its adult fare from 20 to 25 cents.

At the same time, the commission authorized Iroquois Gas Corp. to construct a gas distribution system in the Village of Youngstown, Niagara County.

Mohawk Valley Transit Inc. said the higher fares were necessary to maintain efficient and economical service in the Amsterdam area. The new fares will increase the company's annual revenue by $12,700, the PSC reported.

Iroquois gas plans to lay about 51,320 feet of distribution lines within Youngstown and intends to serve 300 customers by the end of 1969.

Flag Etiquette

When displaying the flag at half-staff, it first should be hoisted to the peak and then lowered to half-staff. It should be raised to the peak again before it is lowered.

ADDED PALTZ ATTRACTION—The Major Jacob J. Hasbrouck House is an added attraction for Stone House Day, August 6, on Huguenot Street, New Paltz. Like the ancient homes built almost a century earlier, it will be open from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m. The country house was built on the original allotment made to the heirs of Jean Hasbrouck, as recorded in the minutes of the Duzine, the twelve men who served as the town governing body. There has never been a deed. Since that time it has descended by will. It is now owned by Richard Relyea Hasbrouck, a direct descendant of Jacob. An interesting story of "The Lost Heir" is connected with the house. Due to the early death of Jacob Hasbrouck's first wife, Margaret Hardenbergh, her son Louis became heir to a portion of the fantastic wealth of the 2,000,000-acre Hardenbergh Patent. In 1816, when he came of age, Louis went over the mountain to Fallsburgh to claim his inheritance. There he disappeared. An interesting legal tangle ensued. If it was indeed Louis who was seen by a canal-worker in 1827, then his father, and thus, his Hasbrouck half-brothers, would inherit. If he was already dead by that time an earlier law would return his share to the Hardenbergh family. Litigation lasted for almost a century. Among the outstanding colonial and local documents housed in the museum vault, is a long and learned opinion on the case written by Judge Alton Brooks Parker, who in 1904 was candidate for president. The Hardenbergh's won the case. (Erma R. DeWitt Photo.)

Carnival Collects $23 For Muscular Dystrophy

A neighborhood carnival held at Sunrise Park Saturday netted a total of $23 for the benefit of muscular dystrophy victims.

John and Marie Iannotti, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Iannotti, served as ringmasters, assisted by Kurt and Kevin Glacier, David and Keith Lown, Benjamin Gulnick, Gerard Perry and Michael Augustine.

Friday, a sandlot baseball game was organized by the Iannottis with the sale of refreshments coming to $4.35. Participating in the game were the Glacier brothers, Thomas Turco, Iannotti, Augustine and Perry. Kevin Lown served as umpire.

Hot Core

The core of the sun has a temperature of 16 million degrees centigrade. It is so hot that a pinhead of its material would emit enough heat to kill a man 100 miles away.

Dimes Grant Is Renewed to AMC, Ulster Has Part

The national Foundation (March of Dimes) has renewed its grant to the Albany Medical Center Hospital for the conduct of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Evaluation Center. Some 27 Eastern New York March of Dimes Chapters including Ulster County are participating in the support of the March of Dimes Center by granting a total of $24,095 for the year July 1, 1966 through June 30, 1967.

Dr. William Petersen, formerly of Kingston, director of the March of Dimes Birth Defects Evaluation Center, said an increasing number of birth defect children are being referred to the center as physicians become more aware of the service the facility has to offer. From its inception in September, 1962, until December 31, 1963, 122 infants and children were evaluated. During the six months period, January 1, 1965, through December 31, 1965, 157 infants were evaluated during 234 outpatient visits.

"We are delighted with the response," he said. "It means more children are getting the kind of comprehensive care they need to build their resources toward living as normal a life as possible."

The center seeks to provide comprehensive medical care to help solve the many physical, psychological and social problems that confront the birth defects child and his family.

This is done by a "team" approach in which physicians with varied skills join physical and occupational therapists, medical social workers and other specialists in making all-round medical care and rehabilitation available to patients at one location.

"In this way, the patient not only receives the benefits of modern medical technology," Dr. Petersen explained, "but the parents, often understandably anxious and distraught, are relieved of the necessity of going from place to place for treatment in the various specialties."

"In addition, our program keeps expenses at an absolute minimum, which relieves what otherwise could be an intolerable financial burden on the family with a birth defects child."

All children with birth defects up to 19 years of age are eligible for treatment at the March of Dimes-supported center, through referral by their own physician. Dr. Petersen said, "That is one of the many reasons contributions to the March of Dimes are still so desperately needed."

The March of Dimes-supported Special Evaluation Center for Birth Defects at the Albany Medical Center Hospital is one of a network of 70 centers established by March of Dimes Chapters across the country to provide exemplary care in their home communities for children disabled by birth defects.

Tariff Cut Accord
BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP)—The six nations of the European Common Market agreed early today on tariff cuts they would apply to the Kennedy Round of world trade talks resumes next month.

The accord was reached after 16 hours of hard bargaining on agricultural products during which the French said their partners were being too generous. The final offers the market will make were not disclosed. As a result of the agreement, an estimated $1.4 billion worth of agricultural goods from the United States and other countries stand to gain easier access to the six common market nations — Belgium, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, France, Italy and West Germany.

The U.S. goal in the Kennedy round, named for the late President John F. Kennedy, is a 50 per cent tariff cut across the board to effect a broad liberalization of world trade.

Denies Name Change
NEW YORK (AP) — Robert Paul Jarma, 23, wanted to Germanize his name by adding "Von" to it, but Civil Court Judge Maurice Wahl said no, and admonished: "If a man is going to be an American at all, he should do so without any qualifying adjectives."

The judge added: "Von is a prefix in many German and Austrian names of the nobility. The court cannot think of a greater nobility than being an American."

EARL BRYDGES
Upstater Handles Reins of State For Six Hours

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Earl Brydges, who says he once entertained thoughts about occupying the Executive Mansion, was governor of New York State for six hours Tuesday.

In that time, he approved $181,172 in federal anti-poverty funds, acting while Gov. Rockefeller and Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson temporarily were out-of-state.

With Gov. Rockefeller on vacation in Europe and Wilson at a family gathering in Connecticut, Brydges, temporary president of the Senate, assumed the executive post by state law. The 61-year-old Niagara Falls Republican bantered with reporters about his brief reign and signed some documents routinely handled by the governor, including approval of the federal grants.

He admitted he once harbored ambitions to occupy the governor's mansion for a full term but added quickly he no longer entertained the notion.

No Word on Assembly
In his own field, he predicted that Republicans would capture 31 of the 57 State Senate seats at stake in the November election.

He declined, however, to predict the outcome of elections for the 150-man Assembly, now controlled by the Democrats.

He said he thought three major issues in the legislative elections would be:

— Democratic refusal to endorse a GOP plan for reapportionment of local governments. The Senate and Assembly were unable to achieve compromise on rival plans.

— Democratic refusal to accept Republican proposals for a new law banning public employee strikes. Democrats held that the Republicans proposed penalties that would be too harsh on violators.

— The New York City transit fare increase from 15 to 20 cents, a move Brydges demanded as a condition for GOP approval of a city income tax. The income tax was part of a compromise city tax package approved by the Legislature before it adjourned earlier this month.

Search Continues For Brig. Gen. Stilwell
SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Coast Guard and Navy ships and planes extended today their intensive search over the Pacific for Brig. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell Jr. and two companions.

They disappeared early Sunday flying a DC3 from San Francisco toward Hawaii. The aircraft carrier Yorktown, engaged in the search since it began only hours after the plane was last heard from, was to be relieved today by the Hornet, en route to the search area from San Diego.

Stilwell is commander of the Army's Special Warfare Training Center at Ft. Bragg, N.C. He was copilot of the missing plane.

The pilot, Hal Grimes, 45, was ferrying the plane to Thailand for use by that country's air force. The navigator was Harold Fossum of Montclair, Calif.

Grimes radioed before dawn Sunday that one of the two engines was not working. He said he was turning back from their position about 525 miles at sea. No trace of the plane has been found.

Witnesses Ready For Hearing on Airlines Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress starts considering today whether the 20-day airlines strike is a national emergency or just a multimillion-dollar nuisance.

Witnesses for the five grounded airlines, the striking machinists' union and the Defense, Labor and Post Office departments open a Senate hearing on special legislation to halt the strike.

Hits Legislative Delay
"I think it does constitute an emergency," said Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, who appeared ready to seek quick passage if the Senate Labor Committee votes out a strike-stopping bill.

But P. L. Stiemiller, president of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists complained "the continued interference by the legislative branch of government is delaying the final time when agreement can be reached."

Chief airlines negotiator William J. Curtin is expected to tell the committee that the strike is "an urgent national problem" and that Congress should act to end it.

AFL-CIO President George Meany issued a statement supporting the machinists' stand that while the strike is inconvenient for the traveling public, it presents no threat to the nation's welfare or to national defense. Meany, who urged defeat of any strike legislation, is not a witness.

Wirtz Star Witness
The government's star witness is Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz. The Labor Department declined to say what line of argument he would take, but indications were that Wirtz would report serious strike effects on the nation's economy.

The Senate committee has before it two strike-ending proposals — one by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who wants the 35,000 striking machinists ordered back to work for six months while government mediators seek a solution, and another by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has urged compulsory arbitration.

tracted and asked the court not to impose a harsh sentence which he said could only be revengeful in nature. He told the court that Frisbie had suffered punishment from his jail confinement since his arrest and said the act had not been a deliberate one but the "emotion" of adolescence. He said the boys had no intention to burglarize the house, they had run away from home, the boys before and after the night in the house.

Much of the circumstances surrounding the crime had never been made public, Matthews said. He said the boys knew the place was empty and when they were surprised in the house by the two men they had attempted to run away but were "cornered." One of the boys was struck by a rock thrown by one of the men and when the two men were told not to approach the two boys, they did so and the shooting took place. Neither of them had any intention to kill, Matthews said.

Some cry for "revenge" has been voiced by some persons, Matthews said, but he asked for a fair disposition, one which would return the boy to society later in life with the hope of becoming a good citizen.

Vogt Disagrees
Assistant District Attorney Vogt disagreed with some of the statements of Matthews and said the boys were not "cornered." He did not agree to the statement that Frisbie had been hit with a rock thrown by one of the men and he said the two youths had been "vicious" and had no right to be at the place.

Urged 'Maximum Sentence'
The prosecution urged the "maximum sentence." Judge Mino before pronouncing sentence said the facts as told by the court by Attorney Matthews were as they had been presented to him by defendant, it was the version of the defendant. Prior to that statement the facts had been those of the prosecution and Judge Mino referred to the "wide publicity" which the case had been given. He said after reading the grand jury minutes he did not feel there had been any pre-meditation and therefore accepted the plea to manslaughter.

Judge sentenced Frisbie to the Elmira Reception Center there to be classified under the regulations of the Department of Correction and transferred to such institution as was proper for term of 10 years and not to exceed 20 years.

Rickard Case Put Over
Raymond G. Rickard, 27, Brooklyn, charged with the murder of a 2½ year old Lake Katrine boy on Nov. 16, 1964, had his case put over until Sept. 6, the opening day of the September term of County Court, in order that counsel for defendant might make motion relating to the indictment. Attorney Francis Martocci and Joseph D. Saccoman appear by assignment. Rickard is charged with causing the death of 2½ year old Victor Rosiello and throwing the body from the Kingston-Rhinebeck Bridge. The boy was the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Rosiello, 37, of Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, who at the time of the alleged murder was at a trailer camp in Lake Katrine.

Several other cases were heard by County Judge Mino before adjourning to chamber to hear Youthful Offender cases.

Fire Damages Car

A blaze which apparently started in or near the carburetor damaged a car owned by Mrs. Pearl Richers, of Route 1, Kingston at 1 p. m. today on East Strand near Broadway. Units from Central and Wiltwyck stations and the Wicks Company answered an alarm from Box 2141, Broadway and East Strand.

Sees Intraparty Feud in Choice Of Dem Candidate

By JOHN VINCOUR
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The New York Democratic Party's search for a man to oppose Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's bid for a third term has developed into an intraparty feud that Sen. Robert F. Kennedy says may lead him to pass up endorsing a candidate.

The dispute involves Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., who is seeking the office that served his father as a springboard to the presidency, and New York City Council President Frank D. O'Connor, considered the front runner among four announced candidates.

Termed Serious

Kennedy, whose support as the state's most powerful Democrat will be a major factor in getting the nomination, called the exchange of charges "quite serious" and said there was a distinct possibility he might not endorse anyone.

The fight between Roosevelt and O'Connor erupted this week after Roosevelt said O'Connor had engineered a deal with two party leaders in New York City for their support.

Another party faction promptly accused Roosevelt of trying to trade promises of backing with former Mayor Robert F. Wagner in 1965.

At a Washington news conference Tuesday, Kennedy expressed his displeasure with the situation and said it could be "very harmful to those mentioned and to the Democratic Party."

Situation Difficult
He said he had originally planned to announce this week whether he would endorse a candidate, but that "the charges and counter charges have thrown the contest for governor into some confusion and made the situation more difficult."

Also in the running are Nassau County Executive Eugene Nickerson, and Howard Samuels, a wealthy industrialist. Roosevelt claimed that O'Connor made a "brazen" deal with former congressman Charles A. Buckley, the Bronx County leader, and Assemblyman Stanley Steingut, who heads the party's powerful Brooklyn wing.

In exchange for their support in the governorship race, Roosevelt said, O'Connor agreed to forego a try for New York's mayoral nomination last year and accept second spot on a ticket headed by Abraham Beame.

O'Connor denied the charge, commenting, "It's tragic that Mr. Roosevelt, the son of a great president, should stoop that low."

A former Beame aide said, meanwhile, that Roosevelt had proposed a deal in 1965 whereby he would back then-Mayor Wagner for re-election if Wagner in turn would promise support for his governorship campaign.

Roosevelt replied Tuesday that he had never heard of "such a crazy idea."

Upset Baseball's

Wisconsin city a new major league franchise in 1967. The order had been stayed pending baseball's appeal to the state's highest court.

No Comment on Appeal
Willard Stafford, special counsel for Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Bronson C. La Follette, said that he was unprepared to comment immediately on whether the state would take the dispute to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The majority opinion said baseball seemed to operate as a monopoly, but added that a silence of Congress in applying antitrust laws to the sport was interpreted to mean "there is to be self-regulation until such time as Congress decides that the public interest requires other control."

The opinion cited the famed 1922 U.S. Supreme Court decision that baseball was not a business, but the door would be open to similar action by other states, resulting in a tangle of court actions.

Bars Unilateral Action
The majority opinion also said that if one state were to regulate baseball, the door would be open to similar action by other states, resulting in a tangle of court actions.

The four justices in the majority, the opinion said, could not agree on which point was the main reason for freeing baseball, but did agree that the decision should be reversed.

The dissenting opinion was written by Justice Nathan Heftner, who said "it is difficult to see what national interest is preserved by immunizing this organization by the consequences of its violation of state law."

"The record is rife with evidence that the corporation acted surreptitiously and deceitfully in an effort to prevent a timely exercise of Wisconsin's jurisdiction."

Gravitation
A man who can jump six feet high on the earth could jump 36 feet high on Mars, but only 2½ feet high on Jupiter.

Believes River Valley Planning Is State's Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Joseph Y. Resnick, D-N.Y., proposed today that New York state go it alone in development of the Hudson River Valley.

Resnick said he would recommend Friday to the House Interior Committee that it reject a proposal for a compact under which the Federal Government, New York and New Jersey would join in the development project.

He suggested that New York establish a state authority and finance its operations with a $100 million bond issue.

The House committee will hold a one-day hearing on legislation sponsored by Rep. Richard Ottinger, D-N.Y., calling for the compact.

Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., have introduced similar bills in the Senate.

Resnick said in a statement the Hudson is almost entirely within New York state and there is no need for giving the federal government and New Jersey a role in its development.

Warns Shortage Of Milk Looms

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — A dairy-farmer organization says the drought is "worse than last year" in much of New York State and northern Pennsylvania and a milk shortage is in the offing.

The Northeast Dairy Cooperative Federation Inc. based its conclusion on reports from its farmer-directors throughout the state and in Pennsylvania.

The survey, the federation said, indicated "a severe milk shortage is approaching."

The federation officials said most counties in the state had good first-cutting hay crops but prospects were poor for the second cutting.

In addition, they said, pastures generally are in poor condition and milk-production is dropping rather rapidly as a result—down by as much as 20 per cent.

Extreme heat in July, coupled with insufficient rain, was blamed. Reports on corn and oats varied from poor to the best in years, but for the most part, the directors said, the two important dairy-herd feeder crops A. Buckley, the Bronx County leader, and Assemblyman Stanley Steingut, who heads the party's powerful Brooklyn wing.

In exchange for their support in the governorship race, Roosevelt said, O'Connor agreed to forego a try for New York's mayoral nomination last year and accept second spot on a ticket headed by Abraham Beame.

Hit New Rochelle Bank
NEW ROCHELLE, N.Y. (AP) — Two armed robbers who spent not much more than one minute in the Pelham Road branch of the First Westchester National Bank collected between $15,000 and $20,000 for their efforts today.

Police said they were told the pair, wearing Halloween masks and carrying guns, entered the bank 15 minutes after it opened at 8:30 a.m.

One man stood by the door, police said, while the second vaulted into the tellers area, herded three women tellers into an office with the manager and assistant, scooped up cash from the cash drawer and fled to a car where a third man waited behind the wheel.

Employees said the whole episode took about a minute.

Giles Gratified By Court Ruling

CINCINNATI (AP) — National League President Warren C. Giles expressed himself today as being gratified by a Wisconsin Supreme Court ruling which ordered dismissal of state antitrust charges against the league and its members.

"I am very gratified and happy the Wisconsin Supreme Court has recognized that the action of the National League in moving from Milwaukee to Atlanta was not a violation of the state antitrust law," Giles said.

When asked about the federal antitrust suit still pending in Milwaukee, Giles said: "I'll answer that by saying we will deal with that as the managers say during a pennant race — 'we'll play 'em one at a time.'"

Top Flower Show Awards Won By Mrs. Schmidt, Mrs. Brown

Mrs. Harry Schmidt won the horticulture award of merit and Mrs. Arch Brown won the Best of Show Award in the Artistic Division of the Woodstock Garden Club's Annual Flower Show held recently.

Special awards were given to the conservation display set up by Miss Florence Hubbard, and to the theme arrangement entitled "America the Beautiful," designed and executed by Mrs. Warren H. Knaust.

The horticulture division was open to all entrants while artistic designs were limited to club members.

An innovation in this year's show was a junior project called "Litter Is Not Beautiful," as part of the club's anti-litter campaign, under the direction of Mrs. S. Brainerd West, club president, and the leadership of Mrs. William W. Fisher of Glenford. Four members of Girl Scout Troop No. 176, Tina Fisher, Linda VandenDooren, Suzanne Oakley and Holly Wenner, all age 10, collected litter along the roadside, which was displayed on a small dead tree and in a container of water to contrast with a bouquet of fresh wild flowers set at the rear of the table. That new dance pavilion, opened this month at Swim-O-Links in Bearsville, is proving one of the most popular attractions of the summer season for local teenagers. The pavilion features dancing to the music of a live band each Saturday night, to which hundreds of youngsters flock. There's less crowded dancing other evenings of the week to records and even pre-teen swimmers pause in their diving to watch the frugging next door. Swim-O-Links should be mighty popular this winter with all age groups when Joe and Nora Holdridge open their ice skating rink for its first season.

Just added to the lineup is a colorful burro and cart, available for the purpose of providing rides for children. Youngsters will also find entertainment especially geared for them in the special program to be presented by the Creative Arts Camp during the afternoon at Town Hall.

The highlight of this year's fair will be the auction of six scrapes, especially designed and painted by six prominent Woodstock artists. Vying in interest with these unique works of art will be John Pike's caricature booth and the music of bagpipes as played by the Amerscot Highland Pipe Band.

It'll be fun and bargain day Thursday, from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m., on the grounds of the Woodstock Library, Tinker Street and Library Lane.

Speck Indicted, Arraignment Set For Next Monday

CICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, 24, indicted in the slaying of eight student nurses, faces arraignment Monday.

The Circuit Court's criminal division announced the date Tuesday after the grand jury handed down eight indictments charging the former odd-jobs man with murder.

The grand jury spent Monday hearing testimony then handed the indictments to Judge Edward F. Healy. Customarily, defendants are arraigned a week from the day indictments are returned. Judge Healy cautioned, however, that such procedure is subject to change.

Before the indictments were voted, Speck had been charged with slaying Gloria Jean Davy, 22, of Dyer, Ind. She is believed to have been the first of the nurses to die in the July 14 massacre.

Speck is reported to be recovering from a chest ailment and self-inflicted cuts.

He told Ranger Homer Leach he will resume his trek today or Thursday after putting around Furnace Creek Ranch with friends. The ranch is a resort, closed for the summer.

Marina Leaves 'Glass House' for New Texas Home

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Away from the "glass house" she wanted to leave in Dallas, the widow of Lee Harvey Oswald was in her new house here today.

Tuesday was moving day for the Kenneth Jess Porters, and they were quick to tell Dallas newsmen they were happy to leave the town where, the Warren Commission says, Mrs. Porter's former husband shot and killed President John F. Kennedy and policeman J.D. Tippit.

"How would you like living in a glass house for all the world to see?" Mrs. Marina Oswald Porter asked as she left Dallas. A few hours later, she was in Greenville, population 21,000, about 50 miles northeast of Dallas.

Marina, her three children — two by Oswald and an infant born July 3 — and a woman friend drove up to the modest frame and brick home.

From across the street, Marina could be seen looking carefully over the neighborhood. Finally she left the small, white sedan and started walking toward the house. A news photographer raised his camera.

"Oh, no!" said Mrs. Porter. She ran into the house, leaving her children with her tall, brunette friend.

'Y' Conference For Next Month Planned Upstate

Channing Mann, of Troy, the nation's first certified physical education director, will be among the featured speakers at a Career Conference on Health, Physical Education and Recreation August 14-19, according to Dave Peterson, physical director of the Kingston YMCA. The conference will be held at Association Island, New York State YMCA conference center.

Mann's topic will be the Ethical Values in Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He is currently administrative coordinator for the New York State Council of Administrators of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

The Council has 311 members representing schools and colleges throughout the state. It is the only one of its kind in the United States and is co-sponsoring the conference with the state YMCA.

Council president is Dr. Jack George, director of Health, Physical Education and Recreation for the public schools in Roselyn, Long Island. Laurence A. (Moon) Mullins, fullback on Knute Rockne's last three teams at Notre Dame, will be among the leaders at the five day session. Mullins is now vice president of the Athletic Institute.

Demonstrations and master lessons will be a feature of the program. Skills to be covered include golf, football, basketball, gymnastics, swimming, volleyball, modern dance and organization of games.

Junior and senior high school boys and girls interested in attending the conference should contact the Kingston YMCA.

Garraghan . . .

Route 209 has been relocated from Hurley Avenue to the other side of the Thruway. The Plaza Road has been constructed by private interests and the viaduct is down.

"Now I find that as mayor, I have nothing to say about urban renewal. Further, I am the only mayor in New York State, perhaps in the nation, that is not on an urban renewal agency."

"At this moment I consider myself fortunate not to be a member of the agency as I might be able, to better assist the programs as a go between with the agency, council and public, once we can agree on changes in the plans."

"I do not see any possibility of good relations with the council and Eric Hemphill, the director of the Urban Renewal Agency, unless there is a complete change in their thinking and respect for each other. This is really a sad state of affairs as the financial status of Kingston, to a large extent depends upon the immediate success of the projects."

"As Mayor of the city I am responsible for the financial stability of our city and I plan to assume the responsibility."

"Responsibility, without authority is not just, and creates a vacuum. I have waited patiently since May 19, 1966, the approval date, for a re-evaluation request. The people will have to assist me."

"I have no personal axe to grind. If from time to time I am required to make a decision against or in favor of the interest of any group or individual my decision will be what is best for the city."

"In closing—I think a real expert should be called in to re-evaluate the plan."

Driver Faces 3 Charges in City, Note 3 Mishaps

A driver was booked on three charges after one of three city traffic mishaps Tuesday, and one involved a truck collision with the low East Union Street railroad bridge.

Police said Leone Rowles, 25, of 24 Abell Street, was charged with petit larceny, leaving the scene of an accident, and lacking a driver's license. City court hearing was today put over by Judge Hubert A. Richter to Thursday to permit time for obtaining counsel.

The larceny charge alleges that she had taken a car owned by Raymond Cook, of 51 Van Buren Street, without his consent.

A report at 7 p. m. Tuesday said it struck the parked car of William F. DeTorto, of 302 East Chester Street, at Gill and W-1-nut Streets. Officers George Barringer and Patrick Colbert investigated.

Lt. Francis Fagan was notified at police headquarters at 5:20 p. m. that a truck of the West End Brewing Company (Utica Club) of Utica, collided on top-side with the low East Union Street bridge. Arthur T. Daley, RD 3, Box 314, Saugerties, was listed as driver.

Police were told after a car hit a tree at West Chester Street and Montrose Avenue at 6:28 p. m. that two boys on a bicycle forced the driver off course. Edward T. DeAngelis of 45 Harwich Street, was listed as driver. Timothy Hogan, 15, of 62 Wrentham Street, reported injuries of the face and right arm, and Edward DeAngelis, 16, of 45 Harwich Street, chin and leg injuries. They were treated at the Benedictine Hospital. Officers Otto Short and Thomas Childs investigated.

new generating units. Fewer sites should be required and the companies will be able to build larger generating units, thus reducing capital costs with attendant savings to electric consumers in the state.

Operation of the interconnected pool will be coordinated not only for planned periods of time, but on a daily basis, adjusting to changes in operating conditions as they occur.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market rallied in moderate trading early this afternoon.

Prices recovered on a broad front. Gains ran from fractions to 2 or 3 points among leading issues.

Analysts saw it as a technical rebound from nervous selling. No particular news was credited with the improvement. Aerospace issues, airlines, drugs, electronics, motors, steels, rails, oils, chemicals, tobaccos and rubbers were among the gainers.

The list was higher right from the start as it continued a recovery movement which got underway late in the previous session.

The general level continued to improve but the pace of trading was a little slower than it was on Monday and Tuesday when the market was falling.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks at noon was up 1.8 at 309.3 with industrials up 2.7, rails up 1.5 and utilities up .3.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 6.18 at 858.35.

Pennsylvania Railroad upped its dividend and the stock gained a point. Penn's proposed merger partner, New York Central, spurted nearly 3 points.

General Motors held steady despite a substantial decline in earnings. U. S. Steel rose fractionally although earnings were off. Bethlehem, which reported a gain in profits, was a fractional gainer, too.

Quotations by Wood, Walker & Company, members of the New York Stock Exchange, 63 Wall Street, New York City, branch office, 52 Main Street, Lowell S. Brooks, manager.

Working Older Seeks Faster Growth Stock

Q) "I am 70-years-old and still working. I have 551 shares in three utilities which have shown good growth and satisfactory returns. I also own 300 shares of National Fuel Gas. My objective is growth. Should I switch to Simmons (beds)?—H.K."

A) Good luck and I hope there are many more years of work in store for you. National Fuel Gas is a financially strong stock but earnings and price have been rather stagnant in recent years and profits declined in the first quarter of 1966. This is a holding company, whose operating components serve a contiguous area from New York State to Ohio. The present price is at its lowest level since 1963, and if strong growth is your objective, I would switch this stock.

Simmons Company has been developing a good growth rate in recent years and I regard the shares as a reasonably satisfactory purchase at current levels. If faster growth is your objective, I suggest Burroughs Corp., an office equipment stock, which has come to life with new computer products. There is more market risk here, but you appear able to assume it.

Q) "What is your opinion of William H. Rorer? Also, what is a warrant and why are they issued?" G.D.

A) Rorer's earnings were down in the first quarter of 1966 which has hurt the price of the stock. The company is excellently managed, but 80 per cent of its business comes from sales of one product—Maalox—used for the treatment of hyperacidity. For the present, I would avoid the stock.

Warrants usually first appear as attachments to a new bond issue, to sweeten it up. They represent the right to buy stock at a fixed or increasing price—sometimes with a time limit and sometimes without. They have no intrinsic value other than the option to buy stock.

Edwards . . .

Bridge is carrying almost twice as much traffic as Newburgh-Beacon Bridge and Dr. Edwards said that the authority is not experiencing any difficult traffic problems on the Mid-Hudson Bridge even though there is a very poor west approach to this bridge.

A contract has been let to widen the western approach of the Mid-Hudson Bridge and Dr. Edwards is of the opinion that when this new approach is completed the Mid-Hudson Bridge would be able to handle more traffic and the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge could more than double its existing traffic before any problems would occur there. If the traffic in the Newburgh-Beacon area increases to where there is need for more lanes, the present bridge can be regulated so that two lanes of traffic can travel in one direction while the other lane is traveling in the opposite direction.

Dr. Edwards said that it was his opinion and the opinion of the traffic engineers retained by the authority that the present Newburgh-Beacon Bridge would serve the immediate needs of the area and would be sufficiently wide enough to take care of traffic for several more years.

When the time comes to consider more than three lanes of traffic on the Newburgh-Beacon Bridge, the authority can construct a parallel bridge just south of the present bridge. The authority has acquired the necessary land on which the second Newburgh-Beacon Bridge can be built, Dr. Edwards concluded.

A State Department spokesman commented: "Our position of not seeking any wider war has been repeatedly made clear and remains our position."

Lt. Gen. Nguyen Huu Co, South Viet Nam's defense minister, followed Ky with an optimistic report on the war, saying the allies had prevented the Communists from mounting a rainy season offensive. ## GM Says Profits Dip in Quarter; Ford Word Today

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors, the nation's largest manufacturing concern, has reported sharply reduced second-quarter profits. The company said lower unit sales and higher costs were to blame.

Ford Motor Co.'s six-months earnings report was due today and Chrysler Corp. will announce its figures Thursday. GM reported a drop of almost $100 million Tuesday for the second quarter as compared with the same period last year but company officials continued to forecast "another good year."

The giant company's earnings for April, May and June were given as $546,035,382. In the second quarter of 1965 the firm reported a record $638,460,046 in earnings.

However, sales for the quarter were off only 2.7 per cent from the previous second quarter. This year's quarterly sales figure was $5.501 billion, compared with $5.657 billion in the same period last year.

GM Chairman Frederic G. Donner and President James M. Roche explained the drop saying the early part of last year's production and sales increased abnormally as a reaction to strikes.

The officials also said second-quarter earnings were affected by lower unit sales, increased construction costs, and higher costs for labor, materials, engineering and tooling.

Earnings per share for the second quarter were $1.90 compared with $2.23 a share one year ago.

Confirms Memory

TROY, N. Y. (AP) — Mrs. Mary Merrill recalls that her late husband once warned her there was a bottle of highly explosive nitroglycerin in the cellar of their home.

Army demolitions experts confirmed that memory Tuesday when they gingerly fired the six to eight-ounce bottle on a nearby rifle range.

Mrs. Merrill discovered the bottle, left by her husband, a chemist who died two years ago, while cleaning house. She called the police, who evacuated the block until the Army removed the explosive.

The department reported his death Tuesday. Survivors include his widow, Mary.

The Morrow address was listed as 22 McEwen St.

Fidel Sees New Decade One of L-A Revolution

HAVANA (AP) — Prime Minister Fidel Castro asserted Tuesday night that the decade of 1970-80 will be a "decade of revolution throughout Latin America" and denounced lackadaisical pseudo-revolutionaries as the "test allies of imperialism."

In a 2 1/2-hour speech commemorating the 13th anniversary of his 26th of July revolutionary movement, Castro called on true Latin-American revolutionaries to overthrow existing governments throughout the hemisphere.

Addressing hundreds of thousands of Cubans in Havana's Revolutionary Plaza, Castro noted that U.S. Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said the decade of the 1970s would be a period of hunger throughout the world.

"But he should better have said that it will be the decade of revolution because the peoples of Latin America will not allow themselves to die from hunger," Castro declared.

"The immense majority of Latin-American countries now have a better reason for carrying on a revolution than Cuba ever had. But if this is not done it is because of the lack of conviction of some so-called revolutionaries."

Castro sounded a familiar theme of the Communist bloc with an offer to send volunteer "combat units" to fight U.S. forces in Viet Nam. He claimed thousands of Cubans have already volunteered to fight in Viet Nam.

Pennsy Studies Plan

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The board chairman of the Pennsylvania Railroad says the New York Central Railroad's plan to scrap long-haul passenger service will take advantage of more lucrative "high-speed, medium-range service."

Stuart Saunders said the Pennsy also has been studying the problem of "long-range passenger trains which no longer serve the public need" but it has not come to a conclusion.

The New York Central announced Tuesday it plans to drop all long-haul passenger trains by the first of the year and replace them with high-speed shuttle service to compete with short-hop airlines.

Debbie, Van Air Their Problems Of Type-Casting

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movies-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "You and I have the same trouble — type-casting," said Debbie Reynolds to Van Johnson.

The setting was Miss Reynolds' sumptuous trailer outside the set of "Marriage American Style," in which both are appearing. It was a pleasant reunion for the graduates of the Louis B. Mayer academy. Both starred at MGM, although they never made a film together there.

Talk About Careers

The two performers talked about their careers. Elizabeth Taylor and other interesting matters as Debbie served up a chef's salad. Johnson, who was ravenous because he had given up smoking, had three helpings. "That's true about type-casting," he said as he finished off Debbie's plate as well. "This kisser of mine; it's like a baby's. Always has been. So they could never see me in any kind of a mature role."

"Same here," said Debbie. "Would they let me grow up with this face of mine? Never."

"Not until I went off to London and did 'Music Man' did I convince anyone I could do something beside the boy-next-door," said he.

"It was 'How The West Was Won' and 'Molly Brown' that did it for me," said she. "But I want to tell you something. It's not too bad to be type-cast young. Because after you've had all that experience you can handle the challenging roles and still look young doing them."

"I still have trouble with this baby-face of mine," said Johnson, who will be 50 next month and looks 35. "You know I've never been able to play a villain? Until now. I'm going to play a character called minstrel on 'Batman.' My agent had a dickens of a time convincing them I could play a villain."

The conversation shifted to their days at MGM and, perhaps inevitably, the name of Elizabeth Taylor came up.

"I remember that book she wrote, 'Nipples and Me.' All

Phoenicia Rotary Club Gives $150 to Library

The Phoenicia Library has been granted $150 by the Rotary Club of Phoenicia for the purchase of a selection of adult books in extra large type for the use of readers whose vision is impaired.

Until the recent appearance of the Keith Jennison large print books, published by Franklin Watts, Inc., the adult with poor sight had to struggle with magnifying devices of all sorts or give up reading.

The Rotary Club grant, a portion of their community service program, will make available to the Phoenicia Library membership 26 titles in large print.

about her chipmunk," recalled Johnson. "She used to come in my dressing room with the animal on her shoulder, and I'd tell her, 'Will you take that damned thing and get out of here?'" He mused: "I wonder if I'd do that now."

"Oh, I remember Elizabeth in the MGM school," added Debbie. "She hated school."

Group Asks Review Of Questioning Law

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) —The New York State Conference of Police Chiefs will ask the U.S. Supreme Court to review its recent decision guaranteeing the presence of lawyers during the questioning of suspects.

The group adopted a resolution to this effect Tuesday during its annual convention. The resolution said the court decision "handcuffs and shackles" law enforcement agencies. Adoption of the proposal came after a speech by Justice John F. Dwyer of the State Supreme Court that the decision hampered law enforcement.

In pointing out the difficulties the decision places on police, Dwyer said: "It is almost to the point, and will probably reach the point, where you must depend on intrinsic evidence to conduct a successful prosecution."

Gallo Sees Tax Hike Because of City UR Program

Alderman Robert Gallo (D) Ninth Ward, for the third time this week, threw strikes at local urban renewal, this time foreseeing a tax rate boost due to it of $1.50 per $1,000 of evaluation next year.

This will be so, he predicted, and possibly it will be more, "unless the Common Council can find means to offset the increase due to urban renewal and the bungling, poor coordination and incompetency of the director, Mr. Eric Hemphill, the chairman, Mr. Frank A. Reis, and the UR Agency itself."

Pessimistic Outlook

Again citing what he considers "waste of taxpayers' money," he feels that conditions "can only worsen with the Kingston Urban Renewal Agency being what it is."

Since April, he said, "Mr. Hemphill has been broadcasting to the public that the agency has Parcel 17 (downtown housing site) demolished and ready for construction of public housing."

However, he adds, Hemphill "completely neglects to tell the public that as late as July 1, the UR Agency did not have engineering plans for the site work completed. This, by the way, I must assume is their responsibility."

"If these buildings were permitted to stand until the present time, the city would have been able to include them on next year's tax rolls. Yet their incompetence made them put these people out of their homes causing unnecessary burdens. But now with the approximate loss of $67,000 of assessed valuation, which is approximately $1.50 per thousand on next year's bill, it must be picked up by the taxpayers of this city."

"Under the urban renewal program, it is the responsibility of the agency to do this site work, such as rough grading, removing old water and sewer lines and installing new ones. If these site plans were not ready, what did Mr. Hemphill expect the Housing Authority to do with the land?"

Called Unnecessary Burden

"If Mr. Hemphill had any idea of how the program operated, he should have known that without having the site work done, and that by demolishing the buildings in April, he was placing an unnecessary burden on the taxpayers of this city."

"It is this type of lack of consideration on the part of Mr. Hemphill, and Mr. Reis, as chairman," he said, that now leaves the program as one "becoming a complete fiasco." When this happened, I seriously wonder whether Mr. Hemphill really knew what he was doing. Since January of 1966, he knew he had to turn over Parcel 13 to the Housing Authority in order not to delay the public housing development."

"Yet at a meeting last week Mr. Hemphill now states that he is not sure that he'll be able to deliver this. At this rate we can certainly expect to see and hear a lot from Mr. Hemphill in our city as urban renewal director. Did someone say that this is a five-year program?"

Other Comments

When council members learned from Mr. Hemphill that due to the Viet Nam situation the prospect of getting developers in the Broadway East area was doubtful and knowing that the City of Kingston had already lost $67,000 in assessed valuation on next year's tax roll some members became very much concerned when they were advised by Mr. Hemphill that the Agency planned to demolish additional buildings in the Broadway East area.

"Of course now Mr. Hemphill says we don't understand him. It is for these reasons that the Common Council passed a motion at the last regular meeting asking the agency not to demolish any buildings in the area except those needed for public housing unless they had a developer ready to purchase the land. To date, to my knowledge there has been no reply. The agency in its statement last week said they would do as they please."

I can also understand the agency statement where they said that they were misguided souls running this program. Can the City Afford to Have Misguided Souls Run Such an Important Measure. I am also pleased to see that the agency must be agreeing with me when they say they are misguided and therefore I am left with the impression that I am not the only one who feels Mr. Hemphill doesn't know what he is doing or what it is all about."

To the taxpayers of this city I want to say that I have endeavored to point out the concern of the council in its dealings with the Urban Renewal Agency and the utter waste of the taxpayers money in the manner the program is being operated.

One Hurt, Driver Cited

Robert Halpern, 15, New York City, sustained contusions of the chest at 10:15 p. m. Tuesday, when a car in which he was riding went out of control down an embankment off Ulster Landing Road north of Route 199-32 intersection. Trooper Craig Bremer of the Kingston substation said David Boddie Jr., 18, of Brooklyn, operator of the car was cited by Trooper Norman Kilfoyle on a charge of driving without a license. The summons is returnable at a later date before Justice of the Peace Arthur A. Reilly.

Cut Foreign Aid With Rebuke to Those Aiding Reds

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate turns to the military side of foreign aid today after raising warning signs to the administration and U.S. allies on its feelings about the aid program and the Viet Nam war.

It approved a $2.06-billion economic assistance program — $409 million less than the administration requested — by a 68-27 vote Tuesday. This was the largest number of nays to be cast against foreign aid in four years. It also sent a sharp rebuke to West Germany and by implication to other U.S. allies dealing with Red China or North Viet Nam.

The Senate agreed this year to break with practice and divide the aid program into separate bills covering military and economic assistance. The requested military aid authorization is $892 million. Before approving the economic aid measure, the Senate wrote in a denunciation of a West German deal to build a steel mill in Red China, calling it a blow to the safety of American and allied troops in Viet Nam.

In so doing, it brushed aside warnings by Sens. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., and J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., that the amendment "pointed a finger" at a friend and ally.

America to speak when her toes are being stepped on," replied Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, cast his vote for the economic assistance program but only after expressing his "great misgivings."

He urged a new concept in foreign aid and declared the program "is becoming a vehicle toward deep American involvement in areas and issues which lie beyond both our vital interests and our competence."

Publishers Hear Status of Talks

NEW YORK (AP) — Representatives of the Publishers Association of New York City met Tuesday and heard a report on the status of negotiations between the World Journal Tribune Inc., a member, and the pressmen's union.

Disputes with the 10 unions in the newspaper industry have prevented the new corporation for 93 days from publishing the three newspapers it plans. The pressmen's union is the only union that has not yet reached a contract agreement with the corporation that was formed in the merger of three newspapers.

At Crucial Stage

John J. Gaherin, president of the association, said after the briefing session that it had been held "because the negotiations had reached a crucial stage and we wanted to inform the other publishers what the situation was and what was on the table."

Gaherin said "no" when asked whether the World Journal Tribune had requested the other association newspapers to shut down or suspend publication in support of it. He said no such decision was made.

With the exception of the Post, the city's major newspapers of general circulation are members of the Publishers Association.

Gaherin was asked if there was any discussion at the meeting about the often mentioned possibility that other association members might shut down because of the nature of the dispute between the World Journal Tribune and the pressmen's union.

Deadlocked for Weeks

"You discuss many things in a situation like this," he replied. Gaherin said Matt Meyer, president of the new corporation, told top officials of other association members about the course of negotiations.

Negotiations between the new corporation and the pressmen's union have been deadlocked for weeks, mainly over the issue of working hours.

Subcommittees representing the World Journal Tribune Inc. and the pressmen's union met separately Tuesday and they scheduled joint talks today.

Pick Miami Man

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — John Tyler of Miami, Fla., has been installed as president of the International Association of Identification.

STRANGE VESSEL resembling the superstructure of a giant submarine passes under a drawbridge on the Columbia River at Vancouver, Wash., en route to the open sea and Alaska. It's a section of the oil-drilling platform Trading Bay which will be stationed over a newly discovered well three miles offshore southwest of Anchorage. It was designed specifically to withstand 30-foot tides, strong currents and shifting ice encountered off the Alaskan coast.

Johnson Holds Steady Lead in Arkansas Vote

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Segregationist spokesman Jim Johnson, a critic of Gov. Orval Faubus and President Johnson, held a steady lead over six opponents today as returns trickled in from the Arkansas Democratic gubernatorial primary.

If a trend established Tuesday night holds, Johnson will meet Frank Holt, tagged by all his opponents as a Faubus administration candidate, in a runoff primary Aug. 9.

The runoff winner will not be assured of election as he once was in this traditionally Democratic state. Waiting for him in the general election will be Winthrop Rockefeller, who easily defeated his Republican primary opponent Tuesday.

Johnson attacked President Johnson and the "Great Society" at every stop. He said his vote indicated that the people of Arkansas still believe in state's rights, constitutional government and the right of private property.

Race was not really an issue in the campaign because other candidates did not discuss it. But Johnson reminded his audiences of his segregationist background and he ran strongest in south and east Arkansas where racial feeling has always been highest.

Holt and Johnson, colleagues on the Arkansas Supreme Court before they filed for governor in April, ran well ahead of the Democratic field which listed former Reps. Brooks Hays and Dale Alford; Sam Boyce, a prosecutor; Raymond Rebsamen, a businessman, and Kenneth Sulcer, a state legislator.

The Democratic vote, with 2,052 of 2,693 precincts reported was: Johnson 74,336, Holt 61,767, Hays 40,943, Alford 35,329, Boyce 33,126, Rebsamen 20,852 and Sulcer 11,894.

Rockefeller defeated Gus McMillan of Sheridan who got only a token vote. Rockefeller said McMillan, who ran for governor as a Democrat in 1954, was put into the race by Democrats for harassment.

The Republican vote in 341 of 367 precincts was: Rockefeller 16,781, McMillan 1,015.

Pat Speaks Out

'Daisies' Star Likes Competition Of Boys and Dog

By PAT CROWLEY
For Cynthia Lowry

EDITOR'S NOTE — Kids and animals — they are the traditional scene-stealing enemies of adult actors. Pat Crowley, playing the mother of four cute boys plus the biggest, most lovable dog this side of the Alps, in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," insists she enjoys the competition.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — I never worry about being upstaged in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies." For the uninitiated, upstaging in acting is stealing scenes from other actors on stage with you. There have been many classic examples, but a typical one would be flipping a coin while a performer is reeling off a long speech. Pretty soon the audience wonders when you'll drop the coin and pays no attention to the performer.

No Room for Upstagers

Many of my performer friends think I'm crazy when I say I'm not concerned about being upstaged in my television show because there are children and a dog in the cast. It's an old show biz axiom that actors should never work with kids or animals.

The reason I don't worry about it is that it doesn't happen. Television has no room for upstagers. If a performer sneaks in a move that does detract from another performer, the film cutter simply snips the footage out of the finished picture.

Sometimes one of the boys, or even Ladadog, will do something that is especially funny. Granted, you might call it upstaging, but if it is very funny it enhances the show and, believe me, I'm not against anything that will help a show. In television you do 32 shows and you need everything going for you that you can muster.

And let's face it, without the kids in "Please Don't Eat the Daisies," you don't have a series. They were the inspiration for the book that led to the television version.

There is still another reason why I don't worry about the kids or Ladadog upstaging me. I honestly believe that the whole business of upstaging is more fancy than fact. You seldom see it on the legitimate stage today. Perhaps it's because performers are more concerned with the vehicle than themselves. I don't know.

But I do know that actors who try it are more concerned with themselves than their profession or other individuals. And I also know that if someone tried it on our show the director would be quick to stop it.

Find Thousands In Lema's Plane Following Crash

MUNSTER, Ind. (AP) — Professional golfer Tony Lema was carrying tournament winnings amassed since January when he was killed Sunday night in a private plane crash near Munster.

A Lake County, Ind., official said Tuesday more than $19,000 in uncashed checks was found in Lema's luggage.

County deputy coroner, Dr. Albert Willardo, said checks for $19,996 were found in a briefcase. The case and Lema's clubs were among the few pieces of luggage that were not destroyed in the crash.

Dr. Willardo said that other papers found with the checks indicated that Lema had a bank account in Dallas. The doctor speculated that Lema was waiting until he arrived in Dallas to deposit the checks.

Also found in the case were 1,049 English pound notes of various denominations. Their value was about $4,000.

The doctor said the checks and the golf clubs are being held in the county coroner's office, pending the arrival of the executor of Lema's estate.

Lema's wife, Betty, also was killed in the crash. The pilot, Mrs. Doris Mullen, 43, of Joliet, Ill., suffered head injuries in the crash and was killed instantly, Dr. Willardo said. The copilot, Dr. George Bard, 41, who suffered severe chest injuries, also was killed. Dr. Bard also was from Joliet.

Trooper Arrests Up

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—State Police arrests for traffic violations for the first six months of 1966 increased 19.5 per cent over the corresponding period last year, for a total of 237,600. Supt. Arthur Cornelius Jr. said Monday 112,877 of the arrests were for speeding.

U THANT

Soviet Assures Support for New Term With U.N.

MOSCOW (AP) — U Thant has been assured the support of the Soviet Union for another term as secretary-general of the United Nations but says he has not made up his mind yet, informed sources reported today.

The sources said Premier Alexei N. Kosygin told that during a long talk Tuesday the Soviet government wants him to accept re-election when his current five-year term expires Nov. 3.

Thant was said to have replied he has not decided whether to be a candidate but would take the Soviet attitude into consideration.

Thant is to announce by early September whether he will seek re-election. Soviet support for another term had been reported from the United Nations as early as last April.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey announced U.S. support of a second term for Thant last month, and Britain and France also have endorsed a second term publicly. With this lineup of support there is no doubt Thant can remain in the post if he wants to.

The secretary-general is chosen by the General Assembly on recommendation of the Security Council. The General Assembly's annual session begins Sept. 20.

Wallkill Prison Warden Honored At Upstate Parley

A number of employees of Wallkill Prison recently attended the 17th annual Frederick A. Moran Memorial Institute on Crime and Delinquency at St. Lawrence University, Canton at which Dr. Walter M. Wallack, warden of the prison was accorded special recognition.

Dr. Wallack was cited at the institute banquet on the occasion of his announced retirement for "his outstanding service and contribution to the State Department of Correction and to the entire field of Penology."

Dr. Wallack, a doctor of education and warden at Wallkill for the past 26½ years, addressed the general session on two occasions. More than 800 persons attended.

Dr. Glenn M. Kendall, superintendent of State Vocational Institution at Cossackie offered the tribute to Dr. Wallack, and Warden J. Edwin LaVallee of Auburn Prison presented a portrait of Dr. Wallack done by an inmate of Auburn Prison.

Those attending from this area in addition to Dr. Wallack included Deputy Warden L. E. Whipple, Lt. George Vetter, Sgt. David O. Brodhead, Correction Officers Fred E. Earl, Donald S. Simmons and William Stamatides; Mrs. Lois Stamatides; principal clerk; John J. Sheehy, guidance supervisor, the Rev. George H. Hann, Protestant chaplain, and Rabbi Jerald Bobrow, Jewish chaplain.

Pennsylvania Legislature Planning for Recess

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Pennsylvania legislative leaders are thinking of taking an extended recess next month should an early settlement be reached on the 1966-67 budget and other major appropriations.

Majority Leader Joshua Ellberg announced on the House floor Tuesday that the legislature might recess until after the Labor Day holiday once a joint conference committee agreed on the budget.

Majority Caucus Chairman K. LeRoy Irvie, D-Allegheny, said later that appropriation bills for three major universities—Penn State, Pittsburgh and Temple—also would have to be cleared before a recess could be taken.

House Appropriations Chairman Martin P. Mullen's battle to prohibit the Public Welfare Department from using public funds as reimbursement for both control services was the key to a budget accord.

The six-man committee — three representatives and three senators, evenly divided politically—labored for the second consecutive night to determine what areas of agreement there were on the budget.

Birth Control, the most spirited issue to confront the lawmakers this session, is not expected to be considered by the conferees until the less controversial areas are dealt with.

The Congress of Vienna divided Napoleon's empire among winning nations at the end of the Napoleonic wars.

Answer Medicare Questions Asked Of Local Office

When do I enroll in medicare if I'm going to be 65 in the near future or later years? This is a question the Kingston social security office receives quite often, said George J. Habernig, district manager.

Persons who are not yet 65 will have seven months in which to enroll for medicare. These seven months are the three months before the month they are 65; the month in which they are 65; and the three months after the month in which they are 65.

The medical insurance part of the health insurance program becomes effective on different dates depending on when the application is filed in the seven month period. It is a definite advantage to file in the three month period before the month of reaching age 65. The medical insurance is then effective with the first day of the month of your 65th birthday. If you apply in the month you are 65 or in the following three months, your medical insurance protection will not begin immediately, although you will have hospital insurance as soon as you apply.

A person who is not yet 65, but who is working or has worked under social security and has not filed an application, should get in touch with the social security office in the three months before he is 65. In this way you become entitled to the health insurance benefits, even though, because of your work, you may not receive a monthly benefit. Don't worry about your additional earnings, these will be automatically included in figuring your benefit rate.

The Social Security Administration has always urged those persons who have not filed for benefits to get in touch with them three months before they are age 65. Now with medicare it is more important to do so," said Habernig.

For further information phone, write, or call at the Social Security office, 57 Albany Avenue.

Camp Tri-Mount Lists Record Number of Scouts

The third period of the 1966 season at Camp Tri-Mount, BSA, was the biggest of the year to date, with 142 scouts camping in the central camp and 11 scouts from Troop 77 of New Paltz in a "self-reliant" campsite, doing all their own cooking and most of their own programming.

Camp Tri-Mount, owned and operated by the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America, is used by scout troops from all over Ulster and Greene Counties. During the third period, a large troop from the North Bergen County Council in New Jersey also camped at Tri-Mount. Troop 89 of Wyckoff, N. J., had 40 boys in camp, under the leadership of Assistant Scoutmaster James Eddy and Richard Ungert.

Camping with their own leadership were: Troop 9 of Kingston, with William Daum, scoutmaster; Troop 17 of Tillson, under the leadership of Assistant Scoutmaster David Roddy; Troop 76 of Wallkill, with Scoutmaster Edward Koonz; Troop 141 of Catskill with Assistant Scoutmaster Audin Jeune; and Troop 172 of New Paltz, under the leadership of Committeemen Douglas Bartow and Charles Hamilton. There was also a provisional troop of some 30 boys, representing 11 troops in the council area. These boys were under the leadership of the camp's veteran Provisional Scoutmaster, Michael Angstrom of Kingston.

Cite Paltz Troops

For the second year in a row, Troop 77 of New Paltz, under the leadership of Scoutmaster Fred Sutter, has chosen to do self-reliant camping. They pitch their own tents at the former Iroquois campsite, prepare their own menus and cook their own meals. The only reliance upon camp facilities is at the waterfront and in the field sports areas, where major equipment is necessary. All Scoutcraft skills and nature activities in first and second class requirements are handled by the Troop in its own area or elsewhere in camp.

Camp Tri-Mount's Scoutcraft area, under the direction of Ted Smith of Troop 77 in New Paltz and his assistant, Wesley Clark, of Troop 101 in Durham, has undergone major changes and improvements in the 1966 season. Completely new rope and axe yards have been constructed, and major improvements made in the cooking demonstration area. Also, a new entrance to the area has been carved out of the wooded section next to the dining hall. Along this newly-created woodland path are located vignette exhibits concerning axemanship, outdoor cooking and pioneering. Finally, the 1966 season has seen the reinstatement of the "Totin' Chip" card, issued at the axe-yard. This is a wallet-size card attesting to the fact that the bearer has demonstrated satisfactorily that he knows how to handle a knife and axe.

many advancements and merit badges earned by the boys in the various Troops at camp. Also, NRA Certificates for marksmanship ability were awarded by Rifle Range Director Hank Boucher. At the final retreat ceremony just before dinner on Sunday, Camp Director John Vliet of Catskill presented "Hon or Patrol" neckerchief slides to the Patrol which had earned that distinction in the week-long inter-Patrol contest. This group was the Pine Tree Patrol of Troop 141 of Catskill. Members of this patrol were: Robert Pelham, patrol leader, John Wagner, Kenneth Ruckh, Audin Jeune Jr., Ronald Wolfe, John Simpkins, Frank Pfeigl, and Michael Miles.

After a Sunday dinner of roast turkey, the third week campers, tired but happy, headed homeward while 160 new Scouts swarmed into camp to begin the fourth period.

Red Cross Urges Adults to Watch Young Swimmers

Three of the luckiest little people of 1965 were Kevin Bozard, 4, of Ridgeland, S. C.; Cameron Johnson, 2½, of Bloomington, Minn., and Shelley Hibbetts, 2, of League City, Texas.

They were lucky because older persons, trained in life saving, were near at hand when the three toddlers nearly drowned.

"These three near-tragedies emphasize forcefully the pressing need for the closest supervision of small children around even the smallest and shallowest bodies of water, such as wading pools," said Daniel Morehouse, chairman of first aid of the Red Cross in Ulster County.

"A tot can drown just as easily in a few inches of water as in eight feet if it is deep enough for the nose and mouth to be submerged."

Morehouse added that an adult should always be present and carefully attending when small children are playing around water, such as farm ponds, beaches, swimming pools and wading pools.

"With the number of farm ponds increased by the thousands through the government's conservation and reclamation policies; irrigation ditches sprawling across many miles of farm land, and with swimming pools greater in number by nearly 14 per cent over a year ago, opportunities for children to drown have been multiplied enormously."

Morehouse added that 97,100 new swimming pools were built last year—58,400 of them residential pools. "Ideally every home swimming pool to which children have access should be fenced in, with a gate that can be locked when no adult is available to supervise the play of children."

Standard equipment of every home pool and every farm pond,

Morehouse said, should be the "safety post" devised a few years ago by the Red Cross—an ordinary post in the ground near the pool or pond, with a reaching pole and a ring buoy on a length of rope affixed to it. Also keep a first aid kit handy in the home swimming pool area.

Morehouse made these other suggestions for swimming pool safety:

Be sure deck is as slip-proof as possible. Rough cement or small tiles make a safe surface. Clearly mark deep and shallow sections of pool and run buoy lines across to separate.

Allow no one to swim alone. Be sure all pool users know how to swim. If there are a number of poor swimmers or non-swimmers in the neighborhood, consider swimming classes and safety demonstrations. You Red Cross can usually help with these.

Be sure some member of the family knows how to give first aid, especially artificial respiration and allow no horse play around the pool. Keep bottles and glasses away from pool area.

Slate Fall Vote On Name Change For Reade-Sterling

Announcement was made in New York today that shareholders of Walter Reade-Sterling, Inc. will meet in the fall to vote on a proposed change of the company's name.

The proposed name of the distributor of films and operator of movie theatres would be Walter Reade Organization, Inc., the company said.

Reade-Sterling operates three theatres locally—the Community on Broadway, the 9-W Drive-In and the Sunset Drive-In.

GOP Could Wind Up Plugging for Housing Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Republican leaders are withholding their support of a controversial open housing provision and may end up urging its defeat.

The compromise proposal, part of an omnibus civil rights bill now before the House, would bar discrimination in the sale or rental of housing but would exempt individual homeowners and agents acting on behalf of individuals.

The House GOP Policy Committee met Tuesday to take a stand on the provision. But it found opinion so divided that it postponed action until it can poll all Republicans in the House.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, told a news conference Tuesday night that the compromise would exempt such a large portion of the available housing that "there would be a grave question as to whether this section on housing would be of much value."

Wilkins, acting as chairman of the Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, said a poll of civil rights organizations supporting the bill with certain changes, called upon the House to strike the compromise amendment and restore the open housing section to the form submitted by President Johnson.

The original bill barred discrimination in the sale or rental of all housing.

Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, said a poll of the members should be completed Thursday, when the committee is scheduled to meet again. Indications were that if a majority of the Republicans oppose the section the leadership will refuse to endorse it.

Dear Abby . . .

Hubby Only Trying to Be Neighborly

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: How come husbands can be so nice and polite to other women, but can never see when their own wives need help? Yesterday when my husband and I were getting into our car to go shopping, my next door neighbor was just getting out of her car. She had quite a few packages so my husband rushed over there to help her carry everything into her house.

When we got home from shopping, I had lots of bundles and packages, but my husband just got out of the car and went into the house, and I was left to carry everything inside myself. If all men are like my husband I would advise girls never to marry the one she loves. Just move next door to him.

DEAR TIED: All men are not like your husband. Now much help do YOU get from the man next door?

DEAR ABBY: I am just about to lose my mind. I have talked to our minister, my family doctor (he gave me some pills for my nerves), all my relatives and some of the neighbors, and everyone tells me there is nothing I can do. You are my last hope. I have a beautiful daughter. She is 52 and has never been married. She had her chances, but she was particular. She worked steady for 33 years, saved her money, and never ran around.

Well, she finally met a man she thinks is worth marrying. He is 55 (he says) and has never been married (he claims), he travels for some kind of electronics company and all I know about him is he drives a nice car and he has my daughter in a trance. Here is the blow. My daughter says she doesn't want a wedding, so if she doesn't come home one night I shouldn't worry, because she'll have gone to Las Vegas to get married. How can I talk some sense into that child's head?

HEAVY HEARTED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: I'll have to vote with the minister, your family doctor, the relatives, and the neighbors. Your "child" is a big girl now and well able to make her own decisions. Don't take it personally. She's entitled to have the kind of wedding she wants.

DEAR ABBY: I was married to JOHN JONES and we had two children. We were divorced and I was awarded custody of the children. I later married WILLIAM SMITH. Must I have my ex-husband's permission to change my children's last name to SMITH? Their stepfather supports them.

MRS. WILLIAM SMITH
DEAR MRS. SMITH: It doesn't matter who supports them. You may not change your children's names without the consent of their REAL father.

DEAR ABBY: I heard you say on your radio program the other day that you never had to give up cigarettes because you never took up smoking. How I envy you! I was a three-pack-a-day man until 16 years ago when I had to quit smoking on the advice of my physician. And do know that I still miss it? Keep on telling kids not to start, Abby.

WISH I HADN'T!
Troubled? Write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

Park Films Are Slated Tonight And on Thursday

The park movie schedule for this week has been changed due to the fact that the film arrived late. The film will be shown tonight at dusk in Forsyth Park and Thursday night in Cornell Park.

District Attorney, Aide Attend Parley

District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca and Assistant District Attorney Philip W. Schunk last week attended the New York State District Attorneys Association Conference at Tarrytown, New York, to discuss the recent Supreme Court Decision (Miranda vs. Arizona) re confessions.

Miranda was the case handed down June 13, curbing police interrogation of suspects. The decision influences the District Attorney's Office, in that any statement or confession improperly obtained cannot be used in a criminal trial.

Torraca said the purpose of the meeting was to discuss the impact of the decision on criminal prosecution. He noted that the highest court of the State of New York has several cases before it now in which the issue of retroactivity of the decision is raised. Mr. Torraca further stated that the District Attorney's Association was requested by the Court of Appeals to submit a statistical brief pointing out to the court the effect of a retroactive decision on criminals now in prison.

The language of the United States Supreme Court in its latest decision makes the new ruling on confessions not retroactive, but at the same time leaving to the State Courts the determination as to retroactivity.

Builders Report Aug. 5 Hearing On Tight Money

The Home Builders Association of the Hudson Valley today called attention to the public hearing to be held Aug. 5 at Goshen, by Congressman John G. Dow (D-27th, NY) on the tight money situation as it pertains to the lower Hudson Valley.

There has been a marked decline in home building starts both nationally and in the Hudson Valley. Much of the blame for this problem is placed by the home builders on the tight money market. One of the principle causes of the tight money situation allegedly is the interest rate competition engaged in by commercial banks on certificates of deposit. The interest rates paid by the commercial banks has caused a flow of funds from the savings banks and savings and loan institutions, normal source of mortgage money for builders, to "C.D.s."

A "Call to Action" was issued by Larry Blackmon, president of the National Association of Home Builders June 24. Blackmon, in his call to action, urged all local home builder affiliates to sponsor public meetings to focus both public and governmental attention on the situation in the home building industry caused by the mortgage credit prices.

Patrick Freer, Newburgh, president of the Home Builders Association complimented Congressman Dow for his initiative in setting up the meeting Aug. 5 at Goshen. Congressman Dow said he hopes to determine at least three things at the hearing:

The availability of adequate supplies of money and credit in the four counties of Delaware, Orange, Rockland and Sullivan that comprise the 27th District. The extent to which the building construction industry, building trades, and allied supply industries are being curtailed due to the condition of the mortgage money market, and

The amount of movement of financial resources out of the district and the residual effect of such loss.

The August 5 hearing will be held at the Orange County Courthouse in Goshen. Any resident of the 27th District may make arrangements to testify or file a statement by contacting Congressman Dow's Goshen office, 87 Main Street, on or before Aug. 3.

Doctor Is Facing Arraignment on One of 2 Charges

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Dr. Carl Coppolino, 34, faced arraignment today for the murder of his first wife, also a physician, with a supposedly undetectable drug. It is one of two murder charges against the doctor.

Arraignment in the death of Carmela Coppolino, 34, last Aug. 28, will be before Circuit Judge Lynn Silvertooth. Coppolino also faces a first-degree murder charge in New Jersey in connection with the strangulation death of a former neighbor, retired Army Col. William E. Farber, 52.

Seized Saturday
Coppolino was taken into custody Saturday on a warrant from New Jersey's Monmouth County grand jury.

He spent the weekend under guard in a hospital after complaining of severe chest pains. A Florida grand jury indicted him Monday, after it received an autopsy report on the dismembered body of the first Mrs. Coppolino which indicated, according to State Atty. Frank Schaub, the presence of a drug.

Schaub said the prosecution "theorized" that Mrs. Coppolino had been killed by a drug which was once thought to be undetectable after death and said the seven-month investigation was "medical pioneering." The drug was not named.

Heart Attack Listed
Farber, who died in July 1963, reportedly was killed by a double fracture of a cartilage of the neck, according to Vincent Keuper, Monmouth County prosecutor. But Farber's death certificate, signed by Mrs. Coppolino, gave the cause of his death as a heart attack.

The Coppolinos lived next door to Farber and his wife, Marjorie, in Middletown, N.J. Shortly after Farber's death, the Coppolinos retired to Long-boat Key in Sarasota and not long after that Mrs. Farber and her three children moved next door again.

One month after his first wife's death, Coppolino married a divorcee, Mary Gibson. They each have two children from their previous marriages.

Mrs. Coppolino's death was listed as due to a "coronary occlusion."

But officials reported receiving a tip about eight months ago which resulted in her body and Col. Farber's being exhumed and checked for cause of death. The two states already are contesting which will try Coppolino first.

Coppolino is quoted as saying he retired from medical work to devote his time to writing and lecturing. He has authored a number of articles in professional journals, including a study of alcoholism in industry entitled "The Billion Dollar Hangover."

Oppenheimer said that two bands will provide a balanced evening of entertainment. "The Mark IV Band comes to us through the courtesy of Bob Gilroy, the group's manager, and the Norm Tischer Quartet through the Brookside Hotel in Kerkonkson," he added. "We are planning for a large turn-out, and have purposely chosen entertainment that would appeal to all age groups. There will be refreshments and dancing."

Plans for the opening of the headquarters office of the Committee to Reelect Congressman Joseph Y. Resnick were revealed today by Bruce Oppenheimer, spokesman for the committee.

The committee is sponsoring an open house Friday 5:30 p. m. at 53 Market Street, Poughkeepsie, to which all voters in the 28th Congressional District are invited.

Oppenheimer said that two bands will provide a balanced evening of entertainment. "The Mark IV Band comes to us through the courtesy of Bob Gilroy, the group's manager, and the Norm Tischer Quartet through the Brookside Hotel in Kerkonkson," he added. "We are planning for a large turn-out, and have purposely chosen entertainment that would appeal to all age groups. There will be refreshments and dancing."

'Once in a Lifetime' Premieres Tuesday At Woodstock; Old Kaufman-Hart Comedy

By FRED SNYDER
Freeman Staff Writer

An old Moss Hart - George Kaufman comedy featuring what seemed like a cast of thousands opened last night to a packed audience at Woodstock Playhouse.

Last night's company for the debut of "Once in a Lifetime" totaled 26 actors and actresses altogether. That figure, by the way, does not include a special guest appearance by Playhouse producer M. Edgar Rosenblum and two unidentified mystery men.

And the cast enjoyed itself tremendously in this seven-scene spoof of the early days of the "talkie" motion pictures. At least 15 of the players took on two or more roles, since the script calls for about 61 characters. But the costume and character changes were handled with no trouble at all.

Always Tell A Pro

The resident company, including Judith Doty, Kevin O'Connor,

Robert Boley, William Ade, Cliff Lipson and Terry Forman, who had the lead roles, were at home in their parts throughout the evening. You could tell they were pros.

But the amateur bit players weren't bad, either. Of particular merit was an unknown by the name of William Martin, who fast-talked himself through the parts of a bellboy, a playwright, a movie star, an electrician and a tie salesman. And he had a different gimmick for each of the five roles. Which, if nothing else, made him outstanding on last night's stage.

Laurels to Locals

Kingston residents may be interested to know that there were two local girls also featured in the "talkie" motion pictures. At least 15 of the players took on two or more roles, since the script calls for about 61 characters. But the costume and character changes were handled with no trouble at all.

It was the energy, enthusiasm and aplomb of this kaleidoscopic cast that saved the show from becoming a crashing bore. For unlike most Kaufman-Hart comedies, this one depends not so much on glittering dialogue as on effective sight and situation gags. Fortunately, director Harold Baldrige has a talent for slapstick.

"Once in a Lifetime" will run through Sunday, to be followed next Tuesday by a musical, "The Boy Friend."

Home Extension Service News

The picture for frozen dairy desserts is a bright one. Production last year reached an all-time high and topped one billion gallons. Americans ate more ice cream and other frozen dairy desserts than ever before, says Louise M. Kakargo, Extension Home Economist.

Since World War II per capita sales of frozen dairy desserts have increased more than those of any other major dairy product. Frozen dairy desserts are using an increasing proportion of the total milk supply in the United States.

On a national average, each of us ate 21.3 quarts of frozen dairy desserts last year, or nearly one pint per person more than in 1964. Ice cream is our favorite frozen dairy dessert; we ate about 15.5 quarts each in 1965. Ice milk is gaining in popularity rapidly; consumption is now high of nearly 5 quarts per person. Our use of sherbet has remained relatively constant in recent years at about 9 quart per person. Of the frozen desserts on the market today, not all are dairy products. Only those containing milk fat are considered dairy foods.

Ice cream is made from milk and cream or from a combination of dairy products. Sweetening and flavorings are added. Of the frozen dairy desserts, it is the highest in milk fat and milk solids. In New York State ice cream must contain not less than 10 per cent by weight of milk fat and not less than 20 per cent by weight of total milk solids. When fruits, nuts, or bulky flavorings as chocolate or cocoa are used, the figures are 8 and 16 percent respectively.

Frozen custard, French ice cream, French custard ice cream are similar to ice cream except that they contain egg yolk solids. New York State law specifies that these products contain not less than 3.4 per cent by weight of egg yolk solids.

Ice milk is similar to ice cream but with less milk fat and total milk solids. In New York State ice milk may contain not less than 2 per cent but not more than 7 per cent by weight of milk fat and not less than 11 per cent by weight of total milk solids. Ice milk usually has more sugar than ice cream.

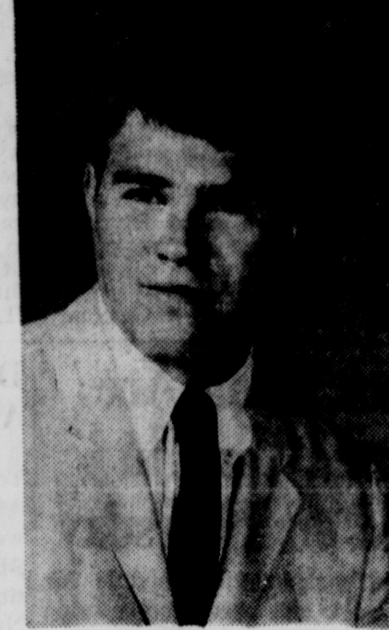

Fruit sherbet is made from milk and/or cream, fruit or fruit juice, and sweetening. It usually has more sugar than ice cream. Water, flavorings, and stabilizers may be added. Sherbet is a low-fat, low-milk solids frozen dairy dessert. In New York State it may contain not less than 1 per cent but not more than 2 per cent by weight of milk fat and not less than 2 per cent of total milk solids. Citrus sherbets must contain at least 2 per cent fruit ingredients; berry and cherry, 6 per cent; and other fruit sherbets, 10 per cent. Acid content minimum of sherbet is .35 per cent.

Water ices contain no dairy products and are a nondairy frozen dessert. They are about 65 to 75 per cent water and 15 to 20 per cent fruit juices. Water ices are high in sugar and may contain stabilizer and flavoring. The fruit and acid content are the same as for sherbet.

Ice cream labels must state whether natural or artificial flavoring is used, according to revised standards of identity issued by the Government's Food and Drug Administration. When no artificial flavoring is used, the product may be called by its common or usual name, as "Vanilla Ice Cream." When both natural and artificial flavoring are used, with the natural predominating, the word "flavored" must accompany the common name, as "Vanilla Flavored Ice Cream." When only artificial flavoring or a combination of natural and artificial flavoring are used, with the artificial predominating, the product must be called "artificial" or "artificially flavored."

Mrs. Johnson Lists Her Wedding Costume

By FRANCES LEWINE

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson will wear a mimosa yellow dress for her daughter Luci's wedding Aug. 6. The First Lady had some final fittings at the White House Tuesday with designer Adele Simpson of New York.

One thing Mrs. Johnson wanted to make sure was that she had enough room in the dress to raise her arms freely so she can dance at the White House wedding reception. "I have a tall husband," she reminded the designer.

The First Lady's two White House aides — Bess Abell, social secretary, and Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary — also will wear wedding costumes by Miss Simpson, who has been designing clothes for Mrs. Johnson for some time.

Luci, who will wear a traditional long white bridal dress, chose floor-length gowns in shades of pink morie for her bridesmaids.

Temperatures have been hitting the high 90s in Washington and the wedding planners are beginning to worry that morie may be quite hot to wear in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception. The big church where the wedding will be held is not air-conditioned.

The final round of parties begins next Monday when Ambassador and Mrs. W. Averell Harriman give a big evening reception to introduce the Washington diplomatic corps to Luci, her fiancé, Patrick J. Nugent, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerard P. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill.

The elder Nugents are due at the White House Monday. They will remain as presidential house guests until after the wedding.

New Booklet Offers Simple, Scientific Way to Stop Smoking

NEW YORK — If the fear of gaining weight lies at the bottom of your failure to check the smoking habit, take heart: there's a simple, scientific solution to your problem.

In a pocket-sized booklet titled "How To Give Up Smoking Without Gaining Weight," a Wall Street executive has documented his personal conversion from a wheezing, four-packs-a-day man to a trim-figured nonsmoker. And, he claims, just about anyone can follow his approach with success.

Milton Fox-Martin, 52, who is president of Hugh W. Long and Company, distributor of the $1.7 billion Anchor mutual funds, writes that one of the reasons thousands of smokers won't give up the habit is vanity, plain and simple. He cites his own past experience as typical: "Much as I wanted to dispense with the morning 'hour of charm' . . . when the house would vibrate with my coughing, gagging and hacking . . . I wanted less those extra pounds. Even though I knew I was playing Russian roulette with medical statistics . . . I was willing to run the risk rather than go from a 34" to a 38" waist measurement."

What changed all this and caused a busy executive, who recently was described by FORBES magazine as "one of the best sales chiefs in the business," to beat the habit and become an author-publisher?

In a no-holds-barred account which intersperses humor with serious clinical realities, Fox-

Martin tells how medical specialists assisted him in a cooperative project resulting in his discovery of a scientific approach to the problem. Consisting of a medical-supervised combination of diet and pills, the author's carefully arrived at regimen is described in detail in the book.

Fox-Martin attributes his extra-curricular literary venture to "an effort to purge myself of guilt for the many years I let vanity rule better judgment," concluding:

"My personal account may be bad for tobacco stocks . . . but I guess I have done my lifetime part in raising per capita consumption of cigarettes, cigars and pipe tobacco."

9,000 View 29th Cumorah Pageant On Opening Night

PALMYRA, N.Y. (AP)—Words such as "beautiful," "spectacular," and "amazing" were heard Tuesday night from a crowd of 9,000 persons who viewed the opening performance of the Hill Cumorah Pageant.

The clear tones of tape-recorded choirs and orchestra music filled the western slope of the hill, as a cast of 430 young Mormons relived the story of the Mormon Church.

The pageant, held annually, is now in its 29th year and will continue nightly through July 30. The 1½-hour performance is free and takes place four miles south of this village east of Rochester.

An informal sampling of audience reaction indicated that people were especially impressed by the colorful and detailed costumes, the magnitude of the sound and the lighting of the hill.

Elder Richard L. Evans, one of the church's Twelve Apostles, a ruling body among the Mormons, welcomed the audience before the performance began.

"It is a privilege to be in America — the free land that it is," the Elder said.

Elder Henry D. Taylor offered the opening prayer.

In addition to the pageant, there are a number of historical sites and monuments which some persons viewed Tuesday night prior to the performance.

Such sights include a monument of the Angel Moroni which gives the highlights of the Mormon story. Nearby is the boyhood farm-home site of Joseph Smith, founder of the church.

There also is a year-round information bureau where free slide film presentations of the Mormon story are available. The whole pageant area comprises 500 acres and represents an investment of more than $500,000.

Acting as manager of the 1966 pageant is H. Lester Petersen, president of the Cumorah Mission of the Mormon Church which supervises missionary activities in most of the New York State outside New York City.

Kingston Pastor Is Attending National Baptist Assembly

GREEN LAKE, Wisconsin — Five hundred persons are participating in the Ecumenical Evangelism Conference sponsored by the National Council of Churches' Division of Christian Life and Mission, July 23 to 29, at the American Baptist Assembly, Green Lake, Wisconsin.

In attendance at the conference is the Rev. James Braker of the First Baptist Church, Kingston.

Among those participating in discussions centering on Peace, Politics, and the Christian's Evangelistic responsibility are Dr. Colin W. Williams, Australian theologian and author; Dr. Benjamin Payton, director of the National Council of Churches' Religion and Race, and Dr. Sanford Gottlieb, political action director of SANE, National Committee for a sane nuclear policy, and one of the planners of the recent White House conference. Among the speakers of the conference is Marlies Cremer who will report on significant experimentation.

Miss Cremer comes from Bad Ball Academy in Germany and is presently on the staff of the Los Angeles Goals Project.

Kyle Haselden, editor of "The Christian Century" will address the group and participate in panel discussions.

Located on Route 9, a trip through the campus, located on Route 9, one mile north of Poughkeepsie, will find these students involved in most of the college's departments.

In the physics laboratory we find a unique team of workers under the direction of Brother Brian Desilets, a noted authority on the effects of X-rays on cadmium sulfide crystals. Basically these students are creating and testing new experiments for the regular physics classes in the fall. Since much of Brother Desilets' work is too advanced to have any counterpart in the United States, the students under EOA are constructing much of the equipment for their mentor's research. The team consists of four physics majors and one mathematics major who graduated from Marist in June.

Patrick Hoffman, an honor physics student serves as the team theorist. Working closely with Brother Desilets, he presents his ideas for new experiments to two other physics majors, Pat Masterson and Nestor Bojarczuk. These two students who are amazingly skilled electricians then proceed to fabricate the needed equipment from the rough plan. Working with Hoffman is Tom Urban, the team's mathematician and X-ray theorist, who is spearheading the exploration of the sub-atomic make-up of certain crystals with various emurpities when the bombarding eye of the X-ray machine.

Specialists Used

Chris Tasevoli serves as the team's electrical specialist and is usually involved in making special equipment for Brother Desilets or is loaned to other departments when his services are required. A striking example of this inter-departmental cooperation can be seen in the construction of a vocal speech synthesizer by the Physics Department for use in the expanded program of the Modern Language Department this fall. The machine uses different vibrations to make a voice pattern that can be changed by the electrical frequency.

The four classroom assistants in the Physics Department also work with the laboratory's two X-ray machines and have the good fortune to be able to conduct experiments with the college's recently acquired laser beam. Presently work with the laser beam is mainly in the area of finding the right frequency and making the right adjustments so that this device can be most efficiently used in the study of light intensity and direction. The laser beam will also be used for studies in communications and in the acceleration of chemical reactions.

When questioned on the impact that these summer workers have made on the college, Brother Edward Cashin, Academic Vice President of Marist stated: "They have been able to do a great deal of work in the past and their summer employment has added new dimensions in the lives of these students who have been able to see first hand the organization and inner-workings of the college's departments and administration. They have also gained experience in the fields of interest which has been especially valuable since they are working more closely with the college faculty than would normally be possible. These are jobs that contribute to the students' education and at the same time enable them to defray part of their tuition expenses."

Pays Expenses

Students who are working at Marist this summer are those who needed a job to help pay for their college expenses and who qualified for the work-study program on the basis of family income levels which were set by the Federal Government. The applicants for summer work and part time employment in the fall could not step into jobs that already existed on campus. Rather new jobs had to be created by the Program Supervisor Herchel Mortensen, Registrar of the college, or by someone in the faculty or administration of the college.

While attending classes on a full time basis, students may work up to 15 hours weekly. During summer or other vacation periods when class is not in session they may work a full forty hours a week. In general the basic pay rate is $1.50 per hour, although some students are making up to $1.75 an hour for specialized work. Under the program, work may be done for the college or for an approved off-campus agency. On campus jobs are assigned in public or non-profit organizations and include work in health, recreation as well as community action programs.

RIDERS MARK 40th ANNIVERSARY—Mr. and Mrs. Asa J. Among the 100 guests were the best man, Charles Thiel, brother of Mrs. Rider, the former Anna Thiel, and Mrs. Lillian Wemmer, the former Lillian Mauff, maid of honor at the wedding in 1926 in Trinity Lutheran Church. The current pastor of Trinity Lutheran, the Rev. John H. Frenssen, was also in attendance. The Riders' children are Mrs. Roger (Alma) Dell, Route 2, Cherry Hill; Mrs. Raymond (Lois) Steward, and Jay Rider, both of Lexington, Ky. (Freeman photo by Kruh.)

Science Students at Marist Engaged In Research Projects During Summer

Gasses rise slowly out of the mud. Thousands of micro-organisms are alive in their Dutchess County habitat, which is not a small pond but the Marist College Biology laboratory.

At 8 a. m., while the greater Poughkeepsie community is still awaking, several Marist students are already actively engaged in challenging research projects ranging from the collection of gas samples to the operation of a specially controlled X-ray machine, to the modification and setting up of an automatic fly catching apparatus that is stationed at Saint Andrews on the Hudson.

These biology majors and 40 of their fellow students have chosen to work and in some cases live on the Marist College campus as a part of the federally sponsored work-study program provided for under Title I-C of the Higher Education Act of 1965.

From June of 1966 to June of 1967, Marist has been allotted a total of $40,867 for use in the work-study program of which roughly $22,000 has been set aside for summer employment.

While their mentor, Daniel Bean, chairman of the Biology Department is studying radiological biology at the famed Oak Ridge Institute in Tennessee, his laboratory assistants are taking gas samples from pond sediment under different light and temperature conditions to find out if heat and temperature will affect the volume of gaseous material the sediment gives off.

Information from this project, which is part of Mr. Bean's doctoral thesis, is being relayed to Oak Ridge by the students in case the gas level deviates markedly from the expected norm.

In the other half of the biology laboratory, Leonard Ciaccio, a June graduate and native of Poughkeepsie who has received a fellowship to Princeton University, is working closely with Dr. George Hooper on a study of the effect that changes in environmental factors have on the fruit fly, Charles DiSogra, a junior at the college, is beginning research on the cancerous tumors that are found in the various species of fruit flies.

His studies are aimed at discovering the chemical inducing agents and the variations of light and darkness in relation to the frequency of tumors in these flies. Similar to the cancer research that is being done on mice, DiSogra's project will also attempt to reveal the possible hazardous effects of CO<sub>2</sub> (carbon dioxide) on flies already infected with the cancer virus.

Saratoga Offering Chamber Programs Throughout August

The Saratoga Performing Arts Center will offer four Monday evenings of chamber music to the public during the month of August. The concerts are to be presented in the historic Casino in Congress Park in Saratoga Springs, N. Y., where such titans of the gambling circuit as "Diamond" Jim Brady and "Bet-a-Million" Gates made their headquarters at the turn of the century.

Three distinguished ensembles, The de Pasquale String Quartet (August 1 and 15), the Philadelphia Woodwind Quintet (August 8) and the Philadelphia Brass Ensemble (August 22) will turn the Casino's elegant ballroom into a true chamber for music. Concerts will begin at 8:30 p. m. Tickets may be purchased at the Center's Route 50 box-office or at the Casino two hours before each performance. All seats are unreserved.

The de Pasquale String Quartet, which leads off the Chamber series on August 1, is perhaps the most famous brother act in the world. All are outstanding members of the Philadelphia Orchestra. Joseph, violinist for the quartet and the oldest of the four brothers, joined the orchestra in 1964 after 19 years with the Boston Symphony. Francis, on cello, joined the orchestra at the age of 20.

William, 32, a violinist, left a concert-master post with the New Orleans Philharmonic to go to Philadelphia. Robert, 37, also a violinist, came to Philadelphia from the New York Philharmonic. By 1964, all four were playing together under Eugene Ormandy.

The Philadelphia Woodwind Quintet, which will perform on August 8, was organized in 1950 to "acquaint the musical public with the richly varied wind literature." All five members of the group are first desk men with the Philadelphia Orchestra. The quintet is composed of John Lancia, oboe; Bernard Panitz, field, bassoon; Murray Panitz, flute; Mason Jones, french horn and Anthony Gigliotti, clarinet. The Philadelphia Brass Ensemble, which will be released in the fall, is made up of first desk personnel of the Philadelphia Orchestra. The Brass Ensemble will give the final concert of the series on Monday, August 22. The Ensemble, composed of two trumpets, one french horn, a trombone and a tuba, has just made a record of Baroque Brass music on the Columbia label which will be released in the fall.

Herzog's Top All Stars to Tie for City League Lead

McAndrew Hurls 1-Hitter, Ks 11

(League Standing)
Herzog Construction 6 3
Elmer's Inn 6 3
Schovel Tree Service 4 3
Kingston All Stars 4 4
Lions Club 3 4
Montgomery Wards 1 7

Herzog Construction overpowered Kingston All Stars, 12-1, Tuesday night to gain a first place tie (6-3) with Elmer's Inn in a City Baseball League contest that had a little bit of everything.

Lonnie McAndrew checked the All Stars on one hit, struck out 11. The lone All Star tally in the second inning came as the result of a passed ball.

Hawkins on Spree
Jerry Hawkins, Herzog catcher, blasted a grand slam homer in the sixth inning and added a single and triple in five trips.

Pat Berardi, the starter, took the loss for the All Stars and also accounted for their only hit off McAndrew, a single. Jack Watzka homered behind McAndrew's single for Herzog's final runs in the top of the seventh. McAndrew was "3 for 3" with two singles and a double and Stan Tentowski drilled three singles in four trips.

Take Early Lead
An error, Hawkins' triple and Len Whitten's sacrifice fly gave Herzog's a 2-0 lead in the first inning. All Stars scored their only run in the second as Jack Schatzel walked, stole second and third and came home on a passed ball.

Singles by Hawkins and Wayne Reynolds produced a Herzog run in the third. Tentowski's single, an error and passed ball sent Herzog's ahead, 5-0, in the fifth.

Mrs. Harris Wins Rusk Memorial

Mrs. William D. (Chris) Harris, the former club champion, defeated Mrs. Edward Minasian, 2 up, to capture the 1966 Blonnie Rusk Memorial golf tournament at the Twaalfskil Club.

Mrs. Harris posted a fine 40-42-82 but needed all her finesse to turn back Mrs. Minasian in the handicap event. Mrs. Minasian had 46-49-95 on her own ball.

All even at the turn, Mrs. Harris built up a two-hole lead on the 10th and 11th. After the 12th was halved, Mrs. Minasian rallied to square the match by taking the 13th and 14th holes.

The 15th and 16th holes were halved but Mrs. Harris put on a strong finish to capture the 17th and 18th and match.

Who's the Hottest AL Hitter?

Frank Robinson, Tony Oliva, No It's Saverine (?)

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Tony Oliva is leading the league in batting, Frank Robinson has hit seven homers in the last eight games and Willie Horton is breezing along at a .500 pace for the last week.

So who's the hottest hitter in the American League?

Would you believe Bob Saverine?

Oliva rapped two hits, Robinson tagged his 29th homer and Horton had four straight hits Tuesday night but Saverine continued to set the fastest pace with three hits giving him 10 safeties in his last 16 swings.

Horton's four straight hits drove in all of Detroit's runs as the Tigers downed Chicago 3-1. Oliva drove in two runs with his 19th homer and raised his average to .331 as Minnesota defeated New York 6-3.

Robinson's 29th homer couldn't save Baltimore from a 7-4 defeat by Cleveland. Saverine helped Washington rump California 6-2. Boston damped Kansas City 8-5 in the other AL game Tuesday night.

Is Up to .273
Horton, with 11 hits in his last 22 swings, has raised his average 21 points from .252 to .273.

Willie doubled home Norm Cash with the tying run in the fourth and then drove in other Detroit runs with singles in the sixth and eighth.

Mickey Lolich, who went five innings, got credit for his ninth victory with Dave Wickersham finishing up.

Frank Howard and Ken McMullen drove in two runs apiece for the Senators and Saverine contributed three singles and scored twice.

Howard, batting for Willie Kirkland, delivered a two-run single in the third and McMullen tripled following hits by Ed Brinkman and Saverine in the sixth.

His 10-for-16 string has raised Saverine's average 30 points from .236 to .266.

Seeks Third Title
Oliva, chasing a third straight hitting title, grabbed the batting lead with two hits against the Yankees. He ripped a two-run homer in the first and doubled in front of Don Mincher's run-scoring single in the seventh.

The hits lifted the Minnesota slugger's average to .331, six points better than Baltimore's Russ Snyder.

The Orioles came out on the short end of a long-ball duel with the Indians. Cleveland walked five home runs—two each by Rocky Colavito and Leon Wagner and one by Fred Whitfield—to outmuscle Baltimore.

Robinson and Luis Aparicio homered for the Orioles, who still lead Detroit by a fat 11 games.

Jacy Foy ripped two homers for the Red Sox and Dennis Bennett won his first game since undergoing arm surgery.

New Ferrara Has Bat, Can Hit

Ex-Dodger Bust Blasts Key Hit 2nd Game in Row

By DICK COUCH

Associated Press Sports Writer

Al Ferrara mastered Beethoven and Brahms when he was 16 years old. Now, he's finally coming of age as a swinger.

Ferrara, who gave up a promising future as a concert pianist 10 years ago for baseball but failed in two previous major league trials, stroked the key hit for the second straight game Tuesday night as the Los Angeles Dodgers edged Philadelphia 3-2 and remained in the thick of the National League pennant scramble.

The husky outfielder's pinch-hit single in the ninth inning drove in the winning run, capping a two-run rally that extended the third-place Dodgers' victory string to five and left them 1½ games off the pace.

San Francisco regained the league lead from Pittsburgh with an 8-3 triumph over the Pirates as Gaylord Perry recorded his 15th victory in 17 decisions.

A year ago Ferrara may have regretted his decision to pass up the concert hall for the diamond. The 6-foot-1, 203-pound musician was finishing out the season at Spokane after blowing his second chance to make the Dodger varsity.

Got Another Chance
But Walter Alston gave the Brooklyn strongboy another shot this spring and Ferrara hasn't disappointed the Dodger manager.

In Monday night's 6-3 victory over the Phillies he ignited a decisive three-run rally in the eighth inning with a tie-breaking single. Tuesday night's game-winning hit boosted his batting average to .290 and his RBI total to 20.

Elsewhere, St. Louis nipped Atlanta 4-3, Cincinnati outslug Chicago 9-6 and New York shaded Houston 5-4.

Jim Hart, hitless in his previous 18 trips to the plate, cracked a three-run homer in the first inning, sparking the Giants to their second straight victory over Pittsburgh.

Perry allowed seven hits, including Roberto Clemente's two-run homer, before giving way to reliever Bill Henry in the seventh. Henry and Lindy McDaniel checked the Pirates the rest of the way.

Aaron Raps 30th
The resurgent Cardinals overcame a 3-2 deficit in the eighth on Mike Shannon's two-out, two-run homer and pulled out their eighth victory in the last nine games. Hank Aaron's 30th homer pushed the Braves ahead in the seventh before Shannon unloaded.

Deron Johnson's three-run homer climaxed a four-run uprising in the eighth, lifting the Reds past the Cubs in a game that produced six circuits. Billy Williams smashed two homers and Randy Hundley one for Chicago. Jim Coker and Tony Perez also connected for the Reds.

The Mets, who have won nine of their last 12, snapped a 4-4 tie on Ed Bressoud's run-scoring single in the sixth and held off Houston behind rookie Rob Gardner, who pitched four hitless innings in relief of winner Bob Shaw.

Hurley Wins 7th; Smashes KPA, 7-4
John Carter had little trouble with KPA in the Babe Ruth League, pitching a neat three hitless shutout in the league last with a 7-4 win.

Carter helped his cause with a pair of singles and three runs scored. Tom Ingerra paced the losers' attack with two of his three hits, both singles.

Hurley is now 7-4 and in solid second place in the American standing of the league. The Legion leads with a 7-3 record.

Jack's Barbers Down Merchants In CSL, 8-3

Jack's Barber Shop stayed in contention in the City Softball League last night, beating the cellar dwelling Port Ewen Merchants, 8-3. Jack's is now 10-3.

Bill Stokes pitched steady ball for the winners after weathering a three run uprising by the Merchants in the first inning. He steadied down after that scare, striking out 11 and pitching six innings of shutout ball.

Don Wells supplied the muscle for Jack's attack, blasting a home run. Stokes and Dave Horton chipped in with doubles for the winners as did Pete Blanch.

Gene Palladino was tagged with the loss, walking three and striking out two.

Camper Rides With Danger But Lady Luck Bails Him Out

MONTICELLO—Some people think harness racing is a game or a fun-time when men enjoy rides behind horses. Nothing could be further from the truth and if you had been a spectator at Monticello Raceway last night, you would have seen why.

Danger always rides with these men who make their livings by driving 1,000 pound animals around dirt tracks at speeds of approximately 30 miles an hour.

Camper, the Mighty M's leading dash-winning driver, in the fourth race tonight, but Lady Luck fought him off and the only thing shaken after the affair was the nerves of a lot of fans plus those of a gutty driver named Camper.

Bob was driving Tamce, a three-year-old trotting daughter of Harlan-Taffy Hanover who had her last two starts in a row. Just when starter Bill Rossback was ready to move the gate out of the field's way at the start, danger reared its ugly head.

Tamce went off stride and suddenly broke into a wild gallop. Camper was seen lurching in the sulky. Tamce's main bit broke and left Camper with nothing to hang on to but reins that weren't hooked to anything.

Makes Fast Switch
 He immediately swung both feet out of the stirrups and shifted cross ways on the seat. "I started to jump out," he explained afterwards, "but she was going too fast. I decided to stay with her and thank God, everything worked out all right."

Tamce, owned by the Tamble Farm of Glen Head, New York, caught and passed the field in the first turn. She ran uncontrollably in front of the field the rest of the way with Bob still hanging with her and sitting cross ways in the seat.

At the paddock turn, the brown miss slowed up and then stopped. Camper's sigh of relief couldn't be heard but the one that came from the grandstand certainly could.

"Things like that aren't ever much fun," confessed Camper after the incident with more composure than you'd expect Bat Man to have.

"But I guess it's all part of the business. You can't think of these things or you'll be so nervous you wouldn't do yourself or anybody else any good."

Then, just to prove what kind of salt he's made of, Bob went out in the very next race and came home a winner behind Peter Rhulen's Nardin's Tempest.

The crowd gave the gold and brown clad horseman a standing ovation after his victory and it was justly deserved.

Suns Play Old Tune on Cisco

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Pitcher Galen Cisco has been a rip-roaring success in the International League ever since Toronto obtained him from Jacksonville early in June. A success, that is, against everybody but his old teammates.

The onetime New York Met right-hander, plagued by a sore arm, had no record at all when the Suns let him go. For Toronto, he has now won six games, lost three, and two of the three losses were to Jacksonville.

Cisco's latest disappointment came Tuesday night when he took the mound against the Suns with a four-game winning streak and 24 consecutive scoreless innings. True to form, Jacksonville spoiled his evening, knocking him out of the box while taking the first of two games 7-1.

The Suns also captured the nightcap 2-1 on Danny Napoleon's 11th-inning homer to run their victory streak to three games and send the Maple Leafs down to their fourth straight defeat.

Toledo Wins Two
 In other action, Toledo swept two from last-place Syracuse, 3-0 and 6-1; League-leading Columbus beat challenging Rochester 3-0, then lost to the Red Wings, 4-1; and Buffalo nosed out Richmond 2-1, then was beaten by the Braves 6-4.

Luke Walker's three-hit pitching and Don Bosch's eighth homer helped Columbus down Rochester in their opener. In the nightcap, through, the Wings bounced back behind a five-hit effort by Tom Phoebus, who also hit a home run.

Toledo moved into a second-place tie with Rochester, 3½ games behind Columbus, with its sweep of Syracuse. Paul Toth gave the Chiefs only one hit—a single by Manny Jimenez—in the opener, facing just 22 men. Stan Bahnsen upped his record to 10-3 with a four-hitter and nine whiffs in the afterpiece.

Len Boehmer hit three home runs for Buffalo against Richmond. The first homer gave the Bisons victory in the first game. Beauchamp hit his 22nd homer for Richmond in the nightcap.

At Yonkers Raceway, Sheer Genius pushed through on the rail to overtake Selka Diamond in the stretch and win the $4,500 White Plains pace by three-quarters of a length over Adios Treat in 2:08 4-5.

Saratoga Springs — Speedy Man won the $3,000 trot, first division, by 5½ lengths over Volatic Hanover in 2:06 4-5. There was no betting. Pretty Gay ($6.80) captured the second division trot by 1 length over Wyncrest Joan in 2:10 2-5.

Masons Defeat K of C Team, 7-4

It was charity day in the Babe Ruth League. Vin Provenzano walked 13 Masons players and saw his team, the Knights of Columbus go down to a 7-4 defeat.

Provenzano would have been ok if he could have found the plate more often. He gave up only seven hits, one a triple to his rival Ralph Perry, the winning pitcher.

Gary Schatzel had a triple for the losers and Dave Goldman and Earl Edmund had doubles.

Showers Cover Wide Sections

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Thundershowers poured down a most welcome rain over wide, sun-parched sections of the country today.

The rain covered sections between South Dakota on the west and northern Ohio on the east, along the Gulf Coast and over the central and southern Rockies.

In the Far West, the Northwest, and from the Ohio Valley to the interior Gulf states, skies were generally clear.

The early morning rain was largely a continuation of precipitation that had started Tuesday.

Heavy rain fell mostly in Kansas, Nebraska, northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

An unofficial report from the Weather Bureau had a 4-inch rain at Vermillion, Kan., 3.30 inches at Pender, Neb., and 3.56 inches at Fairbury, Neb.

Between 2 and 3 inches of rain fell at Rokeby, Waco and Blue Hill, all in Nebraska.

At Moline, Ill., 3 inches of rain fell in six hours and 2 1/2 inches of it fell in 90 minutes.

Northwest of Chicago, the town of Buffalo Grove was doused Tuesday night with nearly 2 inches of rain. This was more than the area had received in the last 40 days.

Among Tuesday's highest temperatures, was 100 degrees at Harrisburg, Pa., which equaled the record for the date set in 1940.

High winds and heavy rains struck the El Paso, Tex., area Tuesday night. Heavy wind damage was reported. Power lines were downed and debris lay over flooded roads. Power was cut as far north as Las Cruces, N.M.

Forecasts Rain, Thundershowers Next Five Days

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — Extended forecast for Upstate New York, as prepared by the U.S. Weather Bureau, from Thursday through Monday.

Rain and scattered thundershowers are expected at the beginning of the period with another precipitation period likely early next week. Total average precipitation will amount to around a half inch, with heavier amounts in spots.

Temperatures will be generally about normal for the season with a general warming trend by the weekend. Daytime highs will be mainly in the 80s and nighttime lows mainly in the 60s.

Approve Subsidy

BOSTON (AP) — The Senate gave initial approval Tuesday to a $150,000 state subsidy to help retain the New Haven Railroad's long-haul commuter service between Boston, Springfield and New York.

The bill, requested by Gov. John A. Volpe, already has passed the House.

The previous subsidy granted by Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island expired June 30 and additional money is needed to keep the passenger service through Dec. 31. Connecticut and Rhode Island have already acted to continue the subsidy.

Many Letters Ask for Service In Viet Conflict

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — More and more soldiers anxious to serve in South Viet Nam have been writing to President Johnson and congressmen asking for help.

This annoys the Army. So it has put out the word which says, in effect: "Go through channels."

Army Irritated

The Army's irritation shows through in a "personnel letter" distributed this month.

It says: "In recent weeks, there has been a considerable increase in correspondence from soldiers who claim to have volunteered for Viet Nam."

"Many of these letters are to the President and members of Congress."

"The tone of most of these letters is 'I have volunteered and haven't heard anything. Please take action to send me there.'"

It appears, the personnel letter said, that "many soldiers do not realize that VIP correspondence will not expedite nor provide preferential action on volunteer applications, and that such correspondence cannot be used in lieu of a formal application submitted through channels."

The Army letter added that "it is rare indeed for a congressman or other person in authority to ask for anything more than an explanation and/or information upon which to base a reply."

Mild Rebuke

In what sounded like a mild rebuke to commanders, the personnel letter instructed these troops leaders to publicize procedures for volunteering for Viet Nam.

It said: "Soldiers should be informed that the number of volunteers in many specialties exceeds requirements and that delay in assignment to Viet Nam can be anticipated in some specialties."

"Soldiers should be advised that applications are processed through channels as expeditiously as possible and are acted upon as vacancies occur in Viet Nam."

Holden Involved In Pisa Mishap, One Driver Dies

PISA, Italy (AP) — A car driven by American movie actor William Holden crashed into the rear of another car Tuesday night and the Italian driver of the other car was killed, Pisa police reported today.

Holden, 48, and two sisters with him — Sara and Susan West of New York — were not hurt. The actor said they were daughters of friends who are staying at Montecatini, a nearby spa. He said he was driving them to Viareggio, a seaside resort.

Police said Holden's car hit the rear of a small car about 10:15 p.m. near Pisa on a superhighway from Florence to the Ligurian seacoast. The small car hurtled into another lane and overturned.

Holden, however, said the other car veered into his from the left and then overturned.

The only occupant, Giorgio Valerio, 42, of Prato, Italy, died en route to a hospital.

The Pisa police impounded Holden's car, the usual procedure in a fatal accident. They said they would make a report to an investigating judge who will decide whether any charges will be filed.

Holden announced in 1963 that he and his wife, former actress Brenda Marshall, had separated. They had been married for 25 years and have two sons, 22 and 20 years old.

Eight years ago, Holden left the United States to live in Switzerland. He has wide business interests, including a chain of 11 hotels and lodges in Kenya, a radio station in Hong Kong and an electronic company in Japan.

Strike Ends At Hucktrol Plant Here

A strike at Hucktrol Inc., 85 Grand Street, in progress for slightly more than a week, was reported settled today and plant work is to be resumed Thursday.

A dispute over transference of employees from one job to another without reported consideration of seniority rights resulted in picketing which began a week ago Monday.

Both Thomas Salsbury, personnel director, speaking for management, and William Hayman, president of Lodge 1562, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers, said management and the union had "come to an agreement concerning the transfer of workers that is a mutually satisfactory one," and employees committed to work are to start at 7 a. m. Thursday.

This has been vacation time for some employees, but others are due to return to work. The plant has a personnel of about 175. It is a subsidiary of the Huck Manufacturing Company, Detroit, Mich., and makes tools for it. For many years the building housed Electrol Inc., which made hydraulic units for airplanes.
